HOOVER GIVES HIS PLAN FOR FARM RELIEF

FORMER PRESIDENT RAPS NEW DEAL PROGRAM

Seats for 10,000 persons were arranged in the University of Nebraska Coliseum but before Mr. Hoover arrived every seat was filled and scores of persons were standing in aisles.

"A new road must be built by which agriculture can get back onto solid ground from the quicksand of the new deal," the former president said.

He charged President Roosevelt's farm relief measures were an application of a "system of scarcity," hostile to the free American spirit and urged farmers to defend "their heritage of individual liberty."

Hyde in Audience

It was the first address of the Republican leader since the supreme court invalidated the AAA and the fourth of his series of attacks on the new deal.

"Right at the outset let us get somethings perfectly clear. There is a farm problem.

"It concerns the entire nation; . . . the happiness of 7,000,000 homes. Our country will not have reached either moral or economic stature until confidence and hope shine in these homes.

"The problem is still unsolved."

The former president assured his listeners there were "aids to recovery extended to farmers both at home and abroad which have been successful."

Grouping what he termed these tested measures, he listed them as:

First, an increase in consumption of food by restoration of employment.

Second, retirement of sub-marginal lands where people can not make a living and the retardiation of new reclamation projects until additional land can be used.

Third, the encouragement of cooperative marketing and marketing agreements which contribute to prevent gluts in the flow of commodities.

"The farm credit machinery established by the Republican administrations and improved by the new deal should be still further improved," he said in this connection.

"But beyond these measures," the former chief executive continued, "this farm situation is now one where still further emergency measures pending general economic recovery are necessary. . . . We shall need to open our minds to further experiment."

He suggested that instead of trying to find a balance in agriculture only by curtailing a crop, some substitute should be needed which would find a ready market, improve the fertility of the soil, and cut down the quantities of agricultural products the nation now has to import.

"If we include this suggestion with the policies I have already mentioned which would recover our lost acres from foreigners," he continued, "we would be able to employ more than all the acres put out of action by the new deal. We

Ethiopian War In Nutshell

(By The Associated Press)

Addis Ababa—Ethiopia reports 14 killed when town of Waldia is raided by Fascist planes; property of Red Cross unit led by Englishman is destroyed.

Rome—Italy claims important victory all along southern front and says Ethiopians are fleeing in disorder.

Paris—Premier Laval remains in saddle when chamber of deputies gives him vote of confidence, 315 to 251.

London—Observers note indication Britain is preparing further defense measures because of war situation and Japan's withdrawal from naval conference.

ICKES REVEALS HE WAS WRONG

Admits None of Hoover's Measures Were Held Unconstitutional

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Secretary Ickes admitted today that he was under a "mistaken impression" when he declared recently that three laws signed by Herbert Hoover were declared unconstitutional.

In an open letter to the former president which termed "extreme" Hoover's demand for a correction, Ickes hit back also with a statement that "it is entirely constitutional to do nothing."

In a speech at Rochester, N. Y., before AAA was invalidated, Ickes had said the supreme court had ruled out five new deal laws, and called this "a fine showing when one considers the desperate plight of the country on March 4, 1933, and the necessity of adopting emergency remedies to save the life of the patient."

The cabinet member had added that three laws signed by Hoover were invalidated, seven under the Harding administration, and seven under the Coolidge regime.

In his letter today, which he told reporters he wouldn't characterize as an "apology," Ickes said his statements were based on "figures that had already received wide currency and which had been uncontradicted."

He has since learned, he continued, that three adverse decisions rendered during Hover's administration were against statutes enacted previously, and added:

"I am sorry indeed, no less on your account than on my own, that this information was not reliable, as I had every right to expect it to be."

O'Hara Withdraws His Opposition To Tourist Lure Plan

Lansing, Jan. 16. (AP)—Auditor General John J. O'Hara withdrew his opposition today to the four tourist and resort associations' $100,000 program of advertising Michigan. The state provides the money.

He had opposed the expenditures required to maintain travel aid bureaus in other states, asserting they did not earn their cost. He relented after the associations promised to seek a substitute for travel aid bureaus after 1936.

The associations' plan calls for the expenditure this year of $2,600 to maintain a Chicago office and $3,000 for information offices in St. Louis, Mo.; Louisville, Ky.; Cincinnati and Cleveland, O., and Detroit.

The associations agreed that $6,000 should be allotted to the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau to advertise Mackinac Island. The island state park commission had approved the arrangement.

Mackinac Island Commission Gives Report For Year

Lansing, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Mackinac Island state park commission reported today the park had operated at a small profit for the calendar year 1935.

John P. Norton, Escanaba publisher and vice chairman of the commission, reported expenditures at $10,228 and income at $11,143.

Norton gave credit to the policy of free admission to park exhibits for an 8,000 increase in the number of visitors. An admission was charged to the exhibits in previous years.

The publisher said an arrangement has proved satisfactory under which leaseholders receive a 25 per cent discount for payment of past debts. He added that in future leaseholders may pay half of the amount they owe and divide the remainder in annual installments over the period of their leases.

SENATE VOTE SOUGHT TODAY ON BONUS BILL

NEW TAXES MIGHT BE NEEDED FOR MEASURE

Washington, Jan. 16. (AP)—Senate administration leaders today shaped a drive for passage of the coalition "baby bond" bonus bill by tomorrow night, despite the publication of a confidential finance record which raised the possibility of new taxes to discharge the veteran's debt.

After the senate had agreed unanimously to take up the bill tomorrow, the verbatim committee testimony of Secretary Morgenthau before the senate finance committee was made public.

The treasury secretary refused to take a stand on the bonus bill itself, but contended enactment would boost the new money to be raised by the treasury in the next 17½ months to $5,500,000,000, exclusive of $5,800,000,000 of refunding operation.

Senator Bailey (D-N. C.), the committee record showed, asked Morgenthau if new taxes would not be necessary this year.

"What the president said, if I remember correctly," Morgenthau replied, "was that no new taxes would be necessary if no new legislation was passed."

"I think that is correct," Bailey replied. "Now, we have these new obligations right at hand. They are more than a billion dollars in the soldier's bonus. Why would we not be compelled to raise the money?"

"I won't know," the secretary replied, "until I know what congress is going to do, whether they are going to pass the appropriation and whether they are going to have any new legislation."

TWO MORE DIE FOR MURDERS

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 16 (AP)—Albert H. Fish, 66-year-old slayer of Grace Budd, and John Smith, 41, one-legged negro, were electrocuted tonight at Sing Sing prison.

Smith, former Harlem restaurant operator, who was convicted of shooting James Wilson during a quarrel, went to the chair first. He entered the death chamber at 11 p. m. and was dead at 11:04.

Fish was strapped in the chair at 11:06 and was pronounced dead three minutes later.

He was convicted of strangling and hacking to death the 10-year-old girl eight years ago in a lonely Westchester cottage.

Smith Uses Crutch

The electrode was attached to the left leg of Smith, who had no right leg. It was switched, however, before Fish entered the death chamber and was attached to his right leg as is customary.

They were executed by Robert Elliott, who has electrocuted seven men in seven days. Elliott had already been notified to prepare for the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann tomorrow night when Governor Hoffman of New Jersey announced a reprieve would be granted.

Fish, old and stoop shouldered, shuffled down the corridor and went to his death without uttering a word.

As he entered the death chamber, the Rev. Anthony Petersen, Protestant chaplain, was reading from the Bible.

Smith made his last walk with the aid of a crutch. He gazed calmly at the witnesses as he sat down without a word.

Both men had spent their last hours with Dr. Petersen listening to him read the Bible.

Shortly before he was taken from his cell, Fish asserted, Warden Lewis E. Lawes related, that he loved children and must have been out of his mind when he killed the Budd girl.

Water Softening Plant Considered

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 16 (AP)—The city council will act Monday upon a "pay-as-you-go" proposal for the financing of a municipal water softening plant.

The water commission has recommended a 50 per cent increase in water rates for twelve months, effective Feb. 1, to augment funds now on hand. The commission has $190,000 available, and anticipates $130,000 revenue in the next 18 months at current rates. It has estimated the cost of a softening plant at $400,000.

Fishermen Missing Since Friday Found Trapped on Island

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 16 (AP)—Three fishermen, missing since Friday, were sighted today by an airplane pilot on tiny Tahquamenon island, four miles off shore in Whitefish bay. Their tug, the George M., was trapped in heavy slush ice.

The pilot, John Flannery, dropped a package of provisions to the men, who took with them only one day's food supply when they set out a week ago.

Flannery said the men, Robert Gordon, of Brimley, owner of the tug; Edgar Ladd, nephew of C. R. Ladd, Mackinac Island park superintendent, and Orville Brown, of Emerson, capered in obvious joy when he dropped the package, flying as low as possible, Flannery said, he barely hit the island with the bundle, which included chocolate, bread, beans, cigarettes, matches and a bottle of whisky. The package broke open, he said, and he expressed fear that the bottle was shattered.

The men had a fire, the pilot reported, and the small cabin on the fishing tug offered shelter.

Coast guardsmen were attempting to reach the island, but freezing weather was solidifying the ice field and it was doubtful if the boat could push its way through to the island.

However, the guardsmen said, by morning the ice should be solid enough to enable the marooned men to walk to clear water where the boat could pick them up.

The men put out last Friday from Brimley, to search for fish nets which were carried away by a storm.

Kipling In Coma, Hospital Reports

London, Jan. 17 (Friday). (AP)—Rudyard Kipling, British author who is seriously ill in a hospital here, went into a coma at 4:30 a. m. today, hospital authorities announced.

His wife, who had been called to his bedside with their daughter, at his request, was sitting near the noted writer, it was stated, while his surgeon, Dr. A. E. Webb-Johnson, was resting in an adjoining room.

Dr. Webb-Johnson announced earlier that the condition of Kipling, who underwent an operation for a perforated stomach ulcer last Monday, was "very critical."

COLONISTS ARE TOLD TO WORK

Lazy Settlers Will Be Forced to Leave Palmer

Palmer, Alaska, Jan. 16 (AP)—A drastic ultimatum—"go to work or get out"—was handed lagging colonists in Uncle Sam's Matanuska valley tonight.

It was laid down by Ross L. Sheely, colony manager. He had the approval of the works progress administration at Washington.

Investigators had reported that colonists in several instances refused to work.

Sheely ruled that each of the 160 families must have ten acres of land cleared and ready for stump pulling operations by May 1—regardless of the winter weather now prevailing.

He also called upon all families to "clean up" around their homes in two days. He threatened to deprive disobedient ones of their household equipment and other articles they had been obtaining from colony supplies.

In Washington the works progress administration told Sheely to require hard work of all new settlers. The instructions said those failing to develop their farms could consider themselves "automatically disqualified."

Investigators quoted one colonist as saying: "We don't need money. We can get everything we want from the commissary on credit. Why work?"

Investigators Are Now Employed By Liquor Commission

Lansing, Jan. 16 (AP)—Chairman John S. McDonald of the state liquor control commission disclosed today that he has employed a group of investigators to work on "special cases" of enforcement of the state liquor control act and commission regulations.

Several months ago the commission dismissed its staff of 67 "inspectors" at the demand of Gov. Fitzgerald and turned the work of enforcement over to the state police.

The commission's payrolls showed today that four "specially designated distributor inspectors" are employed in Detroit, five outstate and four are attached to the commission's brewery and alcohol division.

McDonald said they will be assigned territory in which to work, and will investigate difficult individual cases involving specially designated liquor distributors.

Laval Wins Another Vote Of Confidence

Paris, Jan. 16 (AP)—Premier Pierre Laval's cabinet kept intact against renewed attacks of left wing enemies through a 315 to 251 vote of confidence today from the chamber of deputies.

The vote, on Laval's refusal to accept new debate on his foreign and domestic policies, was regarded in chamber lobbies as less of a victory than a truce until the premier returns from the session of the league council next week.

PIONEER DIES

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 16. (AP)—Johrn Leary, 83, pioneer Calumet resident, died today after a short illness. He had been an employe of the Calumet and Hecla Consolidated Copper company for 61 years.

ITALIANS BOMB RED CROSS UNIT

14 Natives Killed and 35 Persons Wounded During Air Raid

BY ALBERT W. WILSON
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Addis Ababa, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Ethiopian government said today a Red Cross unit led by a Briton was destroyed in an Italian air raid and 14 natives were killed.

The attack was at Waldia, 90 miles north of Dessye, field headquarters of Emperor Haile Selassie.

"Half the town of Waldia was destroyed by fire," said Ethiopian communique. "Seven women and seven old men were killed.

"Thirty-five persons were wounded, mostly women and children.

"Three planes made the raid. Six big bombs of 330 pounds each were dropped in the court of the Red Cross unit which was plainly marked with the Red Cross insignia.

"Tents and surgical instruments were destroyed.

"British ambulance until from Dessye is going to the rescue."

(Sweden two days ago formally protested to Italy the bombing of Swedish Red Cross unit in which on Swede was killed and another wounded.)

The government said the attack took place at 11 a. m. Tuesday, but Major Burgoyne said it was yesterday.

He apparently was not injured. The town is midway between Dessye and Makale, the forward point of Italy's northern army.

In the Headlines From Washington

(By The Associated Press)

The supreme court refused to interfere with the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

At the White House a decision was reached by congressional and administration leaders to seek "temporary" farm legislation immediately to replace the AAA.

Tempers flared at the senate munitions hearing as charges of prejudice were made and denied by members of the committee. The state department, meantime, made public documents of the World war era.

Secretary Ickes admitted he was "mistaken" in saying recently that three laws signed by Herbert Hoover were held unconstitutional.

Officials of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation said they had heard indirectly some of the nation's banks planned questioning in court constitutionality of the FDIC act.

JUDGE DENIES STATE'S RIGHT TO OIL LANDS

APPEAL OF CIRCUIT COURT RULING PLANNED

West Branch, Mich., Jan. 16 (AP)—A decision by Circuit Judge Fred W. George denying the state's rights to reserve oil and mineral rights on delinquent tax lands sold by the state threw oil men into a turmoil today.

Approximately 80,000 acres have been leased by the state for oil exploration and drilling. How many of those leases will be affected by today's decision, which will be appealed to the state supreme court, was not known here.

Judge George's decision, mailed from his office in Port Huron and filed here today, was in the suit brought by Nick Krench, of Detroit, against the state, the state conservation commission, and several oil companies.

The Fortney Oil Co., which had obtained an oil lease from the state on land owned by Krench, brought in a well last September with flush production estimated variously at from 5,000 to 10,000 barrels daily. The land once had reverted to the state for delinquent taxes, then had been sold, the state retaining the oil rights.

Calls Lease Illegal

Krench attacked the constitutionality of the law under which the state reserved the oil rights, challenged the validity of the lease, and demanded the proceeds from the well. Sixty thousand dollarsk was impounded pending a decision. Krench claimed that the market value of oil sold from the well was $150,000.

Judge George said in his decision that the lease was "executed on behalf of the state, through the department of conservation, without legal authority, and is illegal and void and is forthwith discharged as of record."

The decision said further that the defendants "entered and drilled for oil on plaintiff's land without any authority or right" and that they were "liable to the plaintiff for all damage or loss he suffered, including the value of oil and gas removed from his land."

The decision was predicated principally upon claimed defects in Act 280 of the Public Acts of 1909, and amendatory acts. It said that the title of the act did not cover all of its provisions; that the legislature provided for conveyance of a "fee absolute" to purchasers of tax lands, then purported to reserve oil and mineral rights, and that the act transferred legislative powers to the state conservation commission.

The decision said that the act "does not apply to tax land and if it were so intended by the legislature, then said act is unconstitutional because it violates Section 21, Article 5 of the state constitution." That section states that "no law shall embrace more than one object, which shall be expressed in its title."

Co-defendants, with the state, the conservation commission and the Fortney Oil Co. in the suit, include the Shell Petroleum Corp., the Peerless Refining Company, the Naph-Sol Company, and the Roosevelt Oil Co.

Drilling of two other wells on the Krench property, in Horton township, was suspended when the suit was filed.

Stavisky Swindle Defendants' Fate In Hands Of Jury

Paris, Jan. 16 (AP)—The fate of 17 defendants in the Stavisky swindle trial was in the hands of a jury tonight after a prolonged court session.

Charges against three of the original 20 defendants were dropped by the prosecution. The three were Camile Aymard and Paul Levy, editors, and Henri Dupragon, a banker.

All the defendants pleaded that they had no knowledge of Sacha Stavisky's alleged swindles.

Mme. Arlette Simon Stavisky, widow of the man who was found dead in an Alpine villa after carrying on vast frauds which are alleged to have netted him $10,000,000, was one of the 17 on whose fate the jury was to decide.

City Firemen Watch Blaze For 3 Days

Big Rapids, Mich., Jan. 16 (AP) City firemen have been watching a blaze at Lewis Taylor's home for three days and haven't done a thing about it.

The fire started in a chimney laden with an accumulation of soot. The firemen hesitated to put water on it for fear the bricks would crack and ruin the chimney. A guard was posted to prevent the house from catching fire.

COLLEGE PROFS WANT INCREASE

Michigan State Faculty Underpaid, Asserts State Board

East Lansing, Jan. 16 (AP)—The state board of agriculture, plagued by resignations of underpaid Michigan State college faculty members, voted today to ask the augmented state administrative board for money with which to raise salaries. The request will be for $75,000.

At the same time it announced it would use part of its appropriation for extension work under the Bankhead-Jones act to raise the salaries of its extension employees an average of $400 a year each. The total involved in the pay boost was not disclosed.

The board also approved a WPA project under which the state will put up $1500 and the federal government $115,597.15 as the cost of adding 10,000 to the seating capacity of the college football stadium and the construction of a new track.

It also gave its sanction to another WPA project for the construction of a dormitory for short course students, the federal government to supply $50,000 and the state $5,000 to $6,000.

Two faculty members received pay increases, W. A. Davenport, superintendent of buildings and grounds, from $3,555 to $3,880 a year and H. T. Walworth, instructor of chemical engineering, from $1600 to $1700 a year.

The board accepted the resignations of J. C. Van Camp, superintendent of the forest nursery at the college, and H. J. Gallagher, research assistant in agricultural engineering, both of whom have accepted higher salaried jobs.

Mother Of Bruno Happy Over News Of Son's Reprieve

Kamenz, Germany, Jan. 16 (AP)—Frau Pauline Hauptmann was excitedly jubilant tonight when informed her son, Bruno Richard Hauptmann, had been granted a reprieve by Governor Hoffman of New Jersey.

Aroused from sleep, the mother of the man who was sentenced to execution for the kidnap murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., said:

"I went to bed with prayers on my lips. Now I believe all will be well. Oh, my dear son, my dear daughter-in-law, my grandchild. God has heard my prayer and made His light to shine upon us.

"Now I am sure my son's innocence will be proved and my unhappy boy will be happy once more."

Town Is Isolated By Swollen Streams

San Francisco, Jan. 16 (AP)—Swollen streams isolated one northern California town and weakened levees as the aftermath of a six-day storm.

One development of the storm last night was a snowslide on Bleak Donner Pass in the high Sierras near Colfax which crushed a steel coach of a Southern Pacific train and injured 13 persons, none seriously.

The swollen Klamath river in Humboldt county isolated the town of Klamath. Telephone and telegraph communications were cut off.

Farmers, Civilian Conservation corps and relief workers patrolled levees of the Sacramento river in the Coluso area as a flood crest was reported upstream.

ACTION MEANS DEATH STAYED OVER 8 WEEKS

DELAY CAUSED BY NECESSITY FOR RESENTENCE

BY SAMUEL G. BLACKMAN
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 16. (AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted Lindbergh baby killer, was saved temporarily from the electric chair late today by a 30-day reprieve from Governor Harold G. Hoffman.

It came only 29 hours before the hour of execution.

"I am granting a reprieve," the governor said, "for diverse reasons which I do not care to disclose at this time."

The reprieve, though only for 30-days, actually assures Hauptmann of at least eight more weeks of life and perhaps three months due to the fact it will be necessary to re-sentence him.

Governor Hoffman acted soon after the United States supreme court, in a one-sentence decision by Chief Justice Hughes, denied Hauptmann's appeal for a writ of habeas corpus and a stay of execution.

No Further Reprieve

There will be only the one reprieve, "unless the evidence should warrant" another, the governor said. If Hauptmann is to be finally saved it must be through the presentation of sufficient new evidence to warrant Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, who sat at Flemington, granting a request for a new trial, or for a new plea for clemency to the state pardons court.

The governor announced his decision in his office shortly after talking with Mrs. Anna Hauptmann who presumably had called upon him to plead for her husband's life.

There was no formal statement by the governor, who spoke extemporaneously. He said:

"The attorney general and I have been in conference on this matter, and I have decided to announce a reprieve of 30 days.

"We have agreed that this will not be challenged.

"It is my intention to grant only this one reprieve. There will be no further reprieve.

"I am giving this reprieve for diverse reasons which I do not care to disclose at this time. It is an act of executive clemency, and there can be no extension of the reprieve unless the evidence should warrant it.

"No formal request was made to me to take this action.

"There is plenty of precedent for the action I am taking."

"I will send a formal notice of the reprieve of Col. Mark O. Kimberling (principal keeper of the state prison) within the next half hour."

A delay in preparation of the reprieve order, however, caused the governor to leave his office before signing it. It will be signed early tomorrow, it was said.

Hauptmann Case At A Glance

(By The Associated Press)

Bruno Hauptmann gets new lease on life with 30-day reprieve by Governor Hoffman. It will be only one unless evidence warrant extension, he says.

Prison inmates shout and beat cell doors as news of reprieve reaches them.

U. S. supreme court in Washington turns down application for a writ of habeas corpus and stay of execution shortly before governor acts.

Harold C. Keyes, former defense investigator, quoted as saying he knows of evidence that would bring Hauptmann's acquittal at another trial.

Amandus Hochmuth, who testified at Flemington trial he saw Hauptmann near Lindbergh estate the day of kidnaping, asks attorney general for tickets to execution.

The wife of the president in Washington said she would not intervene in Hauptmann's behalf although she had many appeals.

NEW DEAL TOO GREEDY-KNOX

Administration Adopted Socialist Platform, Publisher Says

East Lansing, Mich., Jan. 16 (AP)—Col. Frank Knox charged tonight that the Democratic administration seeks "to handcuff the Supreme Court of the United States and to make over the Constitution."

The Chicago publisher, who invited Michigan Republicans yesterday to support him for the Republican presidential nomination if Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, (R-Mich) does not seek the nomination, spoke at the annual dinner of the Michigan Press Association and later over a radio hookup.

The majority of American newspapers are critical of the administration he said because of "their disillusionment in the president and his new deal."

"No administration in the more than 150 years of our history has possessed such autocratic power as the present administration," he asserted, "and no administration in all our history has ever been so greedy for more power."

Socialism Ahead

Col. Knox charged that the administration has "foisted" upon the United States "wholly or in part, the 12 principle planks of the socialist platform."

"The American people may well be afraid of what is at the end of the road of business and industrial regimentation," he said. "It is one thing—and only one thing. That is socialism, with its inevitable dictator."

A planned economy, the speaker said, is only another name for the steps taken by leaders in Russia, Italy and Germany that resulted in setting up dictatorships.

Col. Knox called upon "the people to look up the answers to these things:

"The spending of people's money for political purposes; x x x the boondoggling; the facts behind the passing of the holding company bill; x x x the Tennessee valley projects; x x x the incorporation of companies in Delaware—companies with perpetual charters permitting the government to engage in every sort of business in competition with its own citizens and taxpayers; x x x the attacks against the authority of the Supreme Court x x x and the Constitution."

would reverse this economy of scarcity to an economy of plenty.

"I believe we should be prepared to subsidize directly such special crops until agriculture has again been brought into balance."

The former president opened his discussion, fourth in a series in which he had criticized various features of the new deal, with the statement that his proposals for farm relief "may shock those who believe in doing nothing for human ills" as well as those "who believe that all healing medicine comes off the collectivist brew."

WILL MERGE

Hart, Mich., Jan. 16 (AP)—Directors of the National Farm Loan association units in Oceana, Newaygo, Lake and Mason counties voted unanimously today to merge their organizations.

The only mechanical transport of the British postoffice 20 years ago consisted of four motor-cars and one steam tractor.

Ambulance Crashes on Way to Hospital

Grief came in copious quantities to Charles Brown, who was on his way to a hospital in an ambulance when it collided with a truck at Old Westbury, L. I. State Considers Building Program With Federal Aid

Lansing, Jan. 16 (AP)—State officials completed arrangements today for an attempt to win federa laid to finance a $33,024,255 building program.

Governor Fitzgerald will head a delegation composed of Theodore I. Fry, state treasurer, John J. O'Hara, auditor general, George R. Thompson, state budget director, and James F. Shepherd, attorney general, which will submit the formal request for finances to the public works administration in Washington over the week-end.

O'Hara said the state has $749,000 definitely allocated to match WPA money for the construction of a tuberculosis sanatorium at Gaylord and expand the Ypsilanti state hospital. The delegation will ask the PWA to contribute $410,000 to the Ypsilanti project and $204,055 for the sanatorium.

The delegation will ask the PWA to finance $2,837,345 worth of other projects on the proposal that the state's 55 per cent of the cost be liquidated by revenues after construction. Among the projects are an addition to the Newberry general hospital, estimated to cost $100,000, and a $450,000 men's dormitory at Michigan State college.

Changes In Criminal Regulations Planned

Lansing, Jan. 16 (AP)—The state crime commission weighed today the advisability of amending the indeterminate sentence law to establish a minimum prison sentence for all felonies.

Representative George C. Watson, of Capac, and Harry G. Gault, Flint attorney, compose a committee making a study of the indeterminate sentence law and the habitual criminal code with a view to recommending alterations by the next legislature.

Gault advanced the suggestion that a minimum sentence of six months be attached to all felony offenses where the statute governing the offense does not prescribe a minimum. The sentencing judge would set the maximum sentence and recommend a minimum one. The prisoner could be released between the expiration of six months and the judge's recommended minimum sentence by the parole commissioner.

"The arrangement would give the state a real indeterminate sentence law, and permit the parole commissioner to free a man as soon as he has rehabilitated himself," Gault explained.

Civil War Veteran Celebrates Birthday

Ensign, Jan. 16—A host of friends gathered at the home of John Wilson, Civil war veteran, Wednesday evening to assist him in celebrating his 89th birthday anniversary.

The evening was spent by playing five hundred, in which Mr. Wilson took part. At the conclusion of the card games, a birthday lunch was served with a pretty birthday cake forming the centerpiece of the table. Mr. Wilson received several nice gifts, including a purse of money.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. Barbeau, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Magnusson, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Magnusson, Mr. and Mrs. Axel Magnusson, Mrs. Emily Olson and sons Robert, Edward and Kenneth, Elmer and George Weberg, all of Ensign; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Minor, Jr., Rapid River, and members of Mr. Wilson's family, Mrs. Ruth Gorham and daughter Lillian and William Wilson.

Debaters To Meet Here This Evening

The Escanaba and Gladstone high school debate trios will meet at the Escanaba junior high school this evening at 8 o'clock. The judge will be Prof. Forest A. Roberts, N. S. T. C.

The Escanaba debaters, in the order in which they will speak are: Mary Jane Riley, Roger Shanahan, Philip Westbrook. Allen Earle is alternate.

Marcella Meyer Picked To Succeed Miss Olga Bird

East Lansing, Jan. 16 (AP)—The state board of agriculture appointed Marcella A. Meyer today as assistant state club leader at Marquette.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 16 (AP)—Miss Marcella M. Meyer, appointed assistant state 4-H club leader today, with headquarters in Marquette, has been an instructor in the home economics department of the Petoskey high school for the last nine years and has cooperated with the Michigan State college extension department in 4-H club work.

She is a graduate of the Western State Teachers college at Kalamazoo and completed a course of advanced study in Iowa State Agricultural college at Ames, Ia.

Miss Meyer will succeed Miss Olga Bird, who has held the position for five and one-half years and recently was promoted to a position on the East Lansing staff of the Michigan State college 4-H club organization.

Italians Advance On Southern Front

Rome, Jan. 16 (AP)—An Italian communique said today the Fascist army on the Somaliland border achieved "complete success" in an advance of more than 40 miles along the entire front.

"Our troops advanced over 70 kilometers (about 44 miles) along the entire front, overcoming fierce re[illegible] from the enemy," said [illegible] less message from Marshal [illegible]tro Badoglio, Fascist high commander in Africa.

He said troops of Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie and Ethiopia's southern commander, were "retiring in disorder and our troops are pursuing them."

"The enemy losses are considerable and will be determined later."

City Owns A House And Didn't Know It

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 16 (AP)—City officials discovered today they had owned a house for three years and because of their oversight, the tenant had lived in it rent free, during that time.

The house was deeded to the city in 1927 by the late Frances Kean, who retained a life lease. She died March 18, 1933. Jay M. Dosker, mortgage clerk, discovered the deed in checking old records in his department.

REFUND BONDS

Lansing, Jan. 16. (AP)—The state public debt commission authorized the village of Lake Linden today to refund $10,000 of general obligation bonds.

Democrats Claim Balanced Budget Their Achievement

Lansing, Jan. 14 (AP)—A formal Democratic challenge to the claim by the Republican state administration that it balanced the budget appeared today.

The Ingham County Jefferson club, which is sponsoring a series of talks by prominent Democrats, announced former Governor William A. Comstock will be the guest speaker the evening of January 20, and that he will reply to Governor Fitzgerald's recent "anual accountnig."

The announcement said "Michigan Democrats contend the present good financial condition of the state is due entirely to the constructive enactments and labors of the previous Democratic administration."

man as saying "Thank you," as his face lighted up, and he asserted he was "sure something would happen" to prevent the execution.

Convicts Learn Ruling

The "grape-vine" carried the news quickly throughout the big prison.

The inmates lifted their voices in shouts:

"Hauptmann! Hauptmann!"

"Reprieve! Reprieve! Reprieve!"

Beside the governor as he spoke stood Attorney-General David T. Wilentz, his political adversary and the man who prosecuted Hauptmann at Flemington; and Anthony M. Hauck, Jr., Hunterdon (Flemington) county prosecutor.

Governor Hoffmann, serious-faced, paused until the room—filled with newspapermen—became quiet. Before him on the long table was a newspaper, a black headline about the Hauptmann case glaring up at him. With one hand he slowly picked up the paper and turned it over, the headline face down.

He smiled slightly to relieve the tension and then announced the reprieve.

Asked later why he granted the reprieve, the governor, speaking for the news reels, said:

"A reprieve is an act of executive clemency rather than judicial clemency. I am not required to give a reason, but I might say there are grave doubts in this case, not only in my mind but in the minds of many of our citizens."

Mrs. Hauptmann was in her hotel room when told of the governor's decision.

Confession Denied

"That is wonderful," she cried. "I can only say thank you. Now my only wish is that the real truth of the terrible Lindbergh kidnaping comes out, that the terrible people who did this thing will either come before the governor or that they will be caught."

The governor's action followed swiftly circulation of apparently well-founded reports that he had in his possession a confession from a new figure in the case. This was denied, however, by the governor and also by high prosecuting officials.

The governor's clemency, even though it promises only a short respite, is the first break in Hauptmann's favor in his sixteen month struggle against the charge that he kidnaped the infant son of Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh from their Hopewell, N. J., home the night of March 1, 1932 and killed the child.

Hauptmann has lost seven court actions one after the other—two of them being in the United States supreme court. A third was in the New Jersey court of errors and appeals and a fourth was in the court of pardons—a mercy rather than a judicial court. His other defeats were in New York, where he lost his fight against extradition to New Jersey, in Flemington where he was tried and convicted, and in Trenton last Tuesday when he was denied a writ of habeas corpus and an execution stay by Federal Circuit Judge J. Warren Davis.

The proceedings at Washington today were swift. Two members of his five-man counsel, Neil Burkinshaw and Nugent Dodds, asked the supreme court for permission to file an application for a writ of habeas corpus and a stay of execution.

Virtually the same arguments which were presented unsuccessfully in federal circuit court here Tuesday were offered in Hauptmann's behalf at Washington. They were, briefly, that the prisoner's constitutional rights had been violated at Flemington and that important evidence was withheld by the prosecution—an allegation which Attorney-General Wilentz has repeatedly denied.

There was much speculation as to what new evidence Governor Hoffman may possess.

The "confession" reported to have been made by some one other than Hauptmann was still a deep mystery tonight. The governor said he had no knowledge of it, nor would he state what evidence he did possess. J. Edgar Hoover, of the department of justice also disclaimed knowledge of a confession, as did Col. H. Norman Schwartzkopf of the state police, and Attorney General Wilentz.

The governor has indicated dissatisfaction with the story Dr. John F. "Jafsie" Condon told, especially in view of the recent publication of a series of articles entitled, "Jafsie Tells All."

Among other things, the reprieve will provide ample time for Dr. Condon to return from his southern cruise and answer whatever questions the governor may wish to ask. He sailed from New York the day before the pardons court met here.

Furniture Expo At Grand Rapids Ends

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 16 (AP)—The mid-winter furniture market and exposition was closed today after manufacturers described it as the best since 1930.

Total registration of buyers for the 15-day market was said today to have been 1,180. The best previous market was in January 1930, when registrations were 1,189. Officials said a final check of orders had not been completed but they believed business from the market would show at least 20 percent gain over last winter's market.

Scientific Farming Plan New Substitute For AAA

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Escanaba Press Washington Correspondent

Washington—Enemies of the AAA, aided by the U. S. Supreme Court decision, have pushed the Farm Administration into a program which seems to smack more of brain-trusting, "regimentation," and national planning than anything else the New Deal has tried thus far.

Wilson

The proposed combination of the domestic allotment idea with payments to farmers for scientific farming is also considered by many lawyers to conflict as violently with the court's majority opinion as the processing tax-benefit payment system did, since production control is one of the plan's essential features.

Some advocates of the plan cynically admit they consider "constitutionality" a nebulous term, something determined merely by the economic views of one or two justices on the highest bench, and that it probably would take a couple of years to get a decision.

Meanwhile, the elections will be over and perhaps there will be a change or two in membership of the court—or even a strong movement for a constitutional amendment.

To some degree the effort to cloak crop control under the guise of soil conservation may even remind you of the government's argument in the TVA case—a seemingly hypocritical pretense that TVA was primarily a "navigation" project.

* * *

Great Benefit Seen

Preponderance of opinion among agricultural scientists, however, seems to be that planned agriculture on the basis of what AAA has in mind will be the greatest contribution to farmers and to the general welfare which has ever been seriously proposed.

Secretary Wallace has been beaming and humming merrily ever since the farm organization leaders he assembled here declared their support of a program which neither he nor Administrator Chester Davis had supposed could replace the old AAA system for two or three years to come.

The two men most active in planning for the "new AAA" have been Assistant Secretary of Agriculture M. L. Wilson and former Assistant Administrator H. R. Tolley, once head of the AAA program planning division, who has been called back to help work out the program.

Wilson described the scheme as "production for an economy of abundance, with agriculture developed to the best possible technique."

* * *

How Plan Would Work

The gist of the idea is to pay farmers for replacing certain crops or portions of crops with hay and other soil-improving crops. A large surplus not only ruins prices, but also damages the land, if the crop is cultivated intensively and there is no alternation.

Flat acreage cuts of equal percentage for all growers are over. Planning would be regional as well as national.

AAA would say to a farmer that, according to principles of good farm management and soil conservation, he should have his soil or a stipulated part of it next year not in a cash crop—such as tobacco, corn, or wheat—but in clover, grass, soya beans, or perhaps in pasture. If his land were badly gullied, perhaps even in trees.

But inasmuch as the farmer couldn't afford to forego his cash crop otherwise, he would be compensated at so much an acre for his shift.

Each farmer might be asked to draw up a production schedule, with payment conditional on that, and eventually such schedules would all be added up to fit into proposed national production schedules.

* * *

Thorough Study Made

Agricultural experts, notably Wilson, have been working toward such a scheme for a long time. AAA officials have been studying the idea intensively for more than a year.

The main factual background for the study is a "regional adjustment survey" made last year by agricultural experiment stations in 48 states in co-operation with AAA and the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Hundreds of men worked on this for six months and last fall 50 or 60 of the top men at AAA had a secret three-day session at Mount Weather, Va., to mull over the results.

Although problems of administration would seem to be enormous and some lawyers fear the accompanying excise tax program would be tied up in the courts at an early date, the survey and its recommendations will figure importantly in subsequent AAA operations. Consequently, they will be summarized in an ensuing article.

WATSON NAMED CHAIRMAN

Ishpeming—Clermont C. Watson, athletic director of the Ishpeming high school, has been named general chairman of the winter sports committee appointed by S. H. Collick, president of the Ishpeming Industrial association, to draft plans for making this city a "Midwest Lake Placid."

Assisting Mr. Watson will be C. H. Tripp, H. J. Adams, Kiril Rosberg, Joseph Kenney, Carl Corneliuson, George Quaal, Dominic Tasson, Dr. J. Douglas Crane, Harry Kahn and Rudolph Leffler. The general committee will meet with chairmen of the various sports committees at 7:30 Wednesday night in the Mather Inn.

"This is our first united effort with respect to winter sports," Mr. Collick said, "and we figure that next year we will be in a position to offer facilities for sport enthusiasts during the entire winter." Preliminary plans will be outlined at the meeting next week.

HOTEL MANAGER NAMED

Hancock—Appointment of Mrs. Cora Andrews of Kansas as manager, and Harry Delbridge as day clerk and manager of the Sky club have been announced by J. Herchel Hardy, owner of the Hardy Continental Hotel System, of which the Scott is now a unit.

Mrs. Andrews, has had 15 years of experience in the hotel management line, having been manager of the Hardy hotels in Junction City, Kans., and Clay Center, Kans., prior to being appointed manager of the Scott. She also acted as manager of the Old Mission Inn on Madeleine Island of the Apostle group, fashionable summer resort off the coast of northern Wisconsin.

FLIER SEEN ON BAY OF WHALES

Man Sighted Believed to Be Ellsworth or His Co-pilot

London, Jan. 16 (AP)—Hopes that Lincoln Ellsworth and Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, missing for nearly two months, are safe in Little America soared tonight with receipt of a message from the rescue ship Discovery 11 that it had sighted an airplane and a man.

An official of the Colonial office said it presumed that the man must of necessity be either Ellsworth or Hollick-Kenyon, his Canadian co-pilot, since "no other persons are known to be in that vicinity."

One word of the wireless message from the captain of the Discovery 11, sent into the search jointly by the British and Australian governments, was not decipherable and a repetition was ordered.

This would take 12 hours or longer.

The committee in charge of the Discovery 11's rescue expedition gave out this statement:

"A message has been received by the Discovery committee from the master of the Discovery 11 reporting that the boat arrived safely at the Bay of Whales at 10 p. m. Jan. 15. The message indicates one man was sighted from a plane and also a machine at Little America."

Ellsworth and Hollick-Kenyon have not been heard from since November 23 when they started on an airplane flight across Antarctica from Dundee Island to the Ross sea. Dundee Island is 600 miles south of Sape Horn and the Ross sea is south of New Zealand.

China and India together have as great a population now as the entire world had a little more than a hundred years ago.

Over 100 fewer persons were rbored in the Delta county jail ring 1935 than in 1934, and the rcentage of women prisoners as much lower last year than it s in 1934. The annual report of eriff William E. Miron shows 8 persons jail- during the st year, ten of ese being wom- . Jail sentences posed in jus- e courts or in rcuit courts re served by 9 persons. In mparison, there re 490 harbor- at the jail in 34 and 449 in 33, with 33 omen registered 1934 and 37 1933. Jail ntences were rved by 268 in 34.

The number of drunken drivers cked up by the sheriff's depart- nt in 1935 was slightly higher an in 1934. A total last year s 19, and in 1934, it was 15, e same as 1933. A total of 59 tomobile traffic accidents were ported to the sheriff's depart- nt in 1935, and the toll was 6 lled and 44 injured. In many stances, investigations made by e sheriff's department at the ene of the accident resulted in termining the liability of the otorists in fixing the blame for e accidents.

Other items on the report for 35 include:

Carrying Concealed Weapons— four cases reported and inves- gated, two guns were confiscated d two persons convicted.

Breaking and Entering—Twelve ses were investigated and five nvictions were obtained. In ny instances the crime were re- rted to the sheriff's department week or two after they occurred.

Burglaries—Four cases were ported and investigated, and ree convictions were obtained. a fourth case, no arrest was rest was made because of insuf- ient evidence.

Simple Larceny—In a total of 39 investigations, 34 convictions were obtained.

Missing Persons—Twelve cases were reported, and all missing persons were located by the sheriff's department.

Arrests were made on various other unclassified charges, including buying, receiving and possessing stolen property.

The sheriff's department took 21 men to Marquette to serve terms in the state branch prison. Forty-three new fingerprints were added to the files during the year. The department was called out on four cases of suicide and one drowning case.

A great many cases were handled in which it was found impossible to obtain sufficient information for arrest or conviction, but all cases were thoroughly investigated. Several cases were dropped after the complainant declined to prosecute. On a number of occasions the sheriff's department has been called to settle family arguments which threatened to develop serious consequences.

On Sheriff Miron's regular staff are: Undersheriff John E. Frederickson and Deputies Arthur F. Sawyer and Harold H. Johnston.

FIFTH AVENUE PAVING ASKED

Escanaba Summer Taxes 75.24 Percent Paid Up

Approval was given by the Escanaba city council last night to a petition asking for paving on Fifth avenue south between 14th and 15th streets. The request will go through the usual routine procedure and will be set up as a work project for the coming season.

A petition from the Grand Rapids Trust Co., objecting to the special assessment for sewer extensions along their property at Ludington and 23rd street was presented to the council. The city attorney was instructed to contact representatives of the company in an effort to adjust the difficulty.

City Manager T. F. Kessler read a report of tax collections showing the summer tax levy about 75 per cent paid, and the fall taxes about 48 per cent collected, with several weeks to go on the latter collection period.

At the suggestion of the American Legion, the city will have streets decorated with flags for the Upper Peninsula Legion midwinter conference, to be held in Escanaba Jan. 24, 25 and 26. The latter date is also the anniversary of Michigan's statehood.

Noted Augustana Synod Clergyman Stricken Suddenly

Word was received in a telegram to Dr. C. Albert Lund of Bethany Lutheran church Thursday of the sudden death of Dr. G. A. Brandelle, president emeritus of Augustana Synod. Dr. Brandelle passed away Thursday morning at his home in Rock Island, Ill., following a heart attack.

The noted clergyman served as president of Augustana Synod for 17 years, up to October last.

Rev. Dr. Lund who has been invited to give the main message at the funeral services which are to be held Sunday afternoon at the First Lutheran church, Moline, Ill., is leaving this evening.

Rev. LeRoy Broberg of Rapid River will fill the pulpit of Bethany Lutheran church here at the morning service Sunday.

Close Gives Report On School Finances

Newberry, Jan. 16—Confidence in state aid for schols is rapidly being reestablished, is the opinion of Mr. L. L. Close, assistant superintendent of public instruction, who addressed a meeting of Luce county school board members called together by Mrs. Mary Chamberlain, county school commissioner on Wednesday in the Newberry high school. This was the biennial meeting required by law. Mr. Close spoke especially on the legislation which has been enacted during the year 1934-1935 and made special mention of the Thatcher-Saur Schol law through which, he explained, boards of education can now estimate the exact amount of funds with which they will be able to work and so are able to make completed plans for a return to more normal standards and can again enter into teacher contracts. Budgets can now be exactly calculated, Mr. Close reports, and increases in teachers' salaries can again be issued. It is understood that the financial condition of the Luce county schools, including the Newberry system, is much better than was expected. This improved condition is due to the effects of the Thatcher-Saur law.

Mr. Close, who was here with his wife, left on Thursday for Boyne City where he will meet State Commissioner of Public Instruction Elliot after which he will return to the Upper Peninsula for two weeks more, during which time he will meet with country school board members.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

The Ironwood A Capella chorus of 50 voices will come to Newberry sometime early in March to give a concert in the community building, it was decided on Wednesday night when the Booster club of the Methodist church decided to sponsor the event. The proceds will be split between the club and the chorus. Further notice will be given of this event.

SCHOOL POLICE

Newberry, Jan. 16—Hugh Orphan, Newberry senior, was elected judge of the Student Law Enforcing System now in operation in the Newberry high school as a new adventure in practical citizenship. Mr. Orphan received 111 votes with Donn Doten receiving 106, George Hunter 101, Barbara Fisher 93, Peggy Sayles 86 and Howard Brown 68 votes.

Elbin Erickson was elected prosecuting attorney with 132 votes, Ferne Barrett being runner-up with 55. Ruth Walker was elected court clerk, receiving 121 votes with Florence Quinlan 66. For Bailiff George Duchey was elected with 150 votes, R. J. Beach being next in line with 37 votes. Stirling Steward was made chief of police ex-officio and the following Student Patrolmen were appointed: Arthur Fahler, George Ketvirtis, R. J. Beach, Edward McCutcheon, Gilbert McKinzie, Gerald Burnette, Oscar Sundstrum, Pat James, Ernest Thackham, Sulo Pekkanen and Edwin Jouppi.

The court will convene twice each month on the first and fourth Mondays at 3:40 p. m. when such matters as needs attention will then receive attention.

FEDERAL CHARGE

Vernon Lawie, married and father of four children, is being held for the U. S. marshall charged with forging a name on a government check. Lawie allegedly signed the name of Ted Lawver to a CCC check for $25 and will be taken to Sault Ste. Marie to be turned over to the federal authorities.

Theatres

Two Feature Program

"Thunder in the Night" and "Music Is Magic" are on the Delft theatre program today and Saturday.

In his new role for Fox Film, Edmund Lowe returns to the screen as the dapper crime buster of "Thunder in the Night," a fascinating mystery melodrama, featuring Karen Morley and Paul Cavanagh in the chief supporting roles.

The whirlwind action of the film covers a brief six hours in the life of a Budapest detective. From the murder of a man in a hotel during a stormy evening, the trail of clues leads Lowe to the palace of the President of the Cabinet.

Slap-bang comedy and toe-tickling music in a romantic story that is also a biting satire on the Hollywood scene, mark the new Fox musical comedy, "Music Is Magic."

Talented Alice Faye is featured in the picture, supported by Ray Walker, who has the romantic lead; Mitchell and Durant, comedians of the "goofiest" order, and Bebe Daniels.

"Music Is Magic" concerns itself with the efforts of Miss Faye, aided by her three friends, Walker, Mitchell and Durant, to win fame and fortune in Hollywood. Miss Daniels enacts the role of a time-worn actress seeking to retain her position in the motion picture world. She is particularly fearful of Miss Faye who seems destined to supplant her.

Because of the use of tar on roads adjoining their vineyards, wine growers of the Rhone valley complain that their wines now taste of tar.

Fish Fry Banquet Set For Saturday By Escanaba IOOF

Bay De Noc Encampment No. 179, I. O. O. F., has completed final plans for the fish fry banquet which will be held Saturday evening.

Werner A. Olson, general chairman in charge of arrangements, and his committees have during the last three weeks worked out every detail and are now prepared to treat the encampment members and invited guests to a lake trout banquet. They have obtained as one of their distinguished guest speakers of the evening, Wm. J. Collins, of Iron River, past grand master of the state of Michigan. W. G. Stephens, past noble grand of Manistique Lodge No. 353, I. O. O. F., will also speak that evening.

Samuel A. Woolen will act as chef and promises plenty of lake trout with all the trimmings. John Nicholas will head the dining room committee and will take charge of the transportation of the food from the kitchen to the tables. Serving will begin at 6:30 and an orchestra will furnish the music between courses. The speakers will follow the banquet and several musical and vocal selections will also be given during the evening.

All encampment members are requested to be on time and register as they arrive.

Knox Invites Support

COL. FRANK KNOX of Chicago continues to wage an energetic campaign for the Republican presidential nomination with four speaking engagements in Michigan this week.

Speaking at Detroit, Col. Knox, who at one time published a newspaper at Sault Ste. Marie, explained that a warm friendship exists between him and Senator Vandenberg, and that political ambitions would never be allowed to change the situation. He expressed the belief that Michigan should send a solid delegation instructed to support Vandenberg at the Cleveland convention, and added that if Michigan's junior senator decides to withdraw from the race he would be gratified if the votes were transferred to him.

It will be interesting to observe what position the Republican national convention will take in the matter of choosing a presidential candidate. The Liberty League is reported to have turned thumbs down on Senators Vandenberg and Borah because they have been inclined to be liberal, and is disposed to favor Col. Knox and Governor Landon. Vandenberg is shunned by the Liberty League because he voted for a few of the New Deal measures in Congress, while the Idaho senator is feared because of some of his radical views on monetary questions. It appears that the fate of candidates depends upon whether conservatism or liberalism will dominate the convention at Cleveland in June.

Lederle Mentioned

ACCORDING to Congressman Dingell, the appointment to the new federal judgeship in the eastern district of Michigan is likely to go to Arthur F. Lederle, assistant corporation counsel of the city of Detroit.

Another prominent Democrat who has been mentioned for this position is Atty. Frank A. Picrad of Saginaw, former chairman of the Michigan liquor control commission. Politically-minded Democrats, however, have been of the opinion that this would be an unwise move from the party standpoint. Picard is an energetic campaigner, but if he were appointed to the judgeship it would mean his removal from active participation in politics.

Very likely, Atty. Picard, whose theme song in his senatorial contest with Arthur H. Vandenberg in 1934 was "The Man on the Flying Trapeze," will be a candidate for some state office in the 1936 political campaign.

Restoring Fort Holmes

THE Mackinac Island State Park Commission has launched its program for the restoration of historic Fort Holmes, which figured quite prominently in the War of 1812 with England.

Some years ago, a building was erected on the island to mark the site of Fort Holmes, but this effort was far from being historically correct. This fortress, which was built to protect Fort Mackinac, was not of wooden construction, but was really an earthworks type of fortification.

With a model furnished by the Michigan Historical Commission as a guide, workmen are now reproducing the earthworks. They are also aided by the recent discovery of some of the original foundation timbers, which indicate the exact position of the structure.

Mackinac Island has a wealth of history and legend connected with the early settlement and development of the Northwest. The scenic and historic island always will be a mecca for thousands of visitors every summer. It is a forceful magnet in attracting tourists to Upper Michigan.

The Ne-Bo-Shone Case

MOST of the Michigan sportsmen, who have been closely watching the proceedings in the now famous Ne-Bo-Shone case, will welcome the decision of the United States circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati, denying the right of a private sportsmen organization to bar other fishermen from fishing on the part of the Pine river flowing through its grounds in Lake county, lower Michigan.

The higher court affirmed the decision of Judge Fred M. Raymond of Grand Rapids that the Pine river should be open for public fishing its entire distance because of the fact that years ago the stream had been used for the driving of logs. This establishes the Pine river as a navigable or public-purpose stream, in the opinion of the court.

There appears to be schools of thought among sportsmen in considering this question, however.

One group opposes the establishment of private hunting and fishing grounds by individuals or organizations and clamors for the state's acquisition of large areas for the public's use.

Others believe in encouraging the acquisition of large tracts of idle land by private interests for the propagation and maagement of wild life. The latter contend that there is so much idle land in Michigan that there is room for both public and private use and that the conservation program will be enhanced thereby. They point to the increase of deer both inside and outside of the Turtle Lake Sportsmen's club grounds as a result of such efforts.

$100,000 For Advertising

RELEASE of $100,000 by the state administrative board for advertising Michigan as a tourist playground gives assurance that this state will not sit back in the energetic campaign that is being waged by various sections of the country to lure vacationists.

The tourist industry is as highly competitive as any other form of business. Canada, Wisconsin, Minnesota and other regions are spending money to advertise their recreational wares and it follows that Michigan must do likewise in order to get its share of the tourists' dollars.

It will be noted that Auditor General John J. O'Hara, in voting for the $100,000 appropriation, expressed the opinion that some consideration must be given to spending the advertising funds in a manner that will achieve the best results. There has been some criticism that the resort associations have been expending too much of the money to get out attractive and expensive booklets, which reach only a limited number of people. The mailing of these booklets to prospective tourists alone is a costly item.

Canada and Florida, who have much experience in the tourist advertising game, are reported to be getting away from the booklet idea of advertising, having found it too expensive. Emphasis is now being placed on magazine and metropolitan newspaper advertising, which media make it possible to tell the story to millions of people.

Some plan should be worked out to enable Michigan to cash in on the experience of Canada, Florida and other vacationlands.

Your Nation's Affairs

BY T. N. CARVER

Professor Emeritus, Harvard University

Carver

The doctrine that machines decrease the demand for labor is not new. It has been stated, restated and elaborated ever since the invention of the steam engine. Except for the word "technocracy," nothing has been added to the arguments that were set forth when the epoch-making improvements in textile machinery were being adopted in England.

This was the period of the so-called industrial revolution in that country. It has been cited as a period of rapid displacement of men by machines with dire consequences to the workers. Yet the population of England doubled during the first thirty years of that period. Most of this increase found employment, such as it was. That does not look as though machines had decreased the total demand for labor. The most that can be said on that point is that the demand for labor did not increase rapidly enough to give employment at good wages to the vast increase in the supply of labor.

We can only speculate as to what the conditions would have been if the supply of labor had not increased so rapidly. It is a fair inference that wages would have risen and living conditions improved even while labor-saving machines were being introduced.

The fact is that we have never had a clear historical test of the effect of increased machine production on the demand for labor. The supply increases at the same time. Wherever machinery improves rapidly there is always a rapid increase of population. This increase comes from a rising birth rate a falling death rate,, or immigration from the outside. No matter how the increase comes, it indicates improving conditions over what had preceded. The increase in population could scarcely take place if machinery increased unemployment by making labor superfluous.

Take the matter of the migration of laborers, for example. In the absence of religious persecution or political oppression, workers migrate to better their economic conditions, seeking new land, better jobs and higher wages.

Before the World War, workers from Italy, Russia and the Balkans went into Germany, not to seek free land, but to get better jobs than they could find at home. Irish laborers used to go to the mill towns of England for the same reason. After 1890, there was no free land in our country to attract foreign born workers, yet they continued to come in increasing numbers until the World War. They would still be coming if we would let them, and they would come from countries where machines have not "displaced" labor.

These migrations of workers tell an important story. They are always away from countries where machine production has not advanced rapidly and toward countries where machinery is supposed by some to have destroyed the demand for labor!

How can these things be?

If machinery decreased the total demand for labor, migrations should move in the opposite direction. The countries where machine production has "displaced labor" and "destroyed the demand for it" should be exporting surplus wrong with the theory that machine production destroys the demand for labor.

The fact is that, over long periods of time, the demand for labor increases most rapidly in those countries where machine production progresses most rapidly. Ther may be some question as to which is cause and which is effect, but there can be no dispute as to the fact. It is also a fact that the countries which export labor are those in which machine production does not progress.

Account for it as you may, the migrations of laborers is generally in the opposite direction to that which one would expect if he accepted the reasoning of the Technocrats. Here is a hard nut for those to crack, who still talk about technological unemployment.

A YEAR MORE OF INSTABILITY

(New York Sun)

BY EXTENDING for twelve months from January 31 his right to reduce or to increase the gold content of the dollar the President recently deprived the country of the possibility of confidence in a stabilized currency for at least another year. It lay within his power to continue the stabilization fund in operation with maintaining the disturbing power he possesses to change the currency. He chose not to reassure the nation in this way, but adopted the course which was bound to feed the fears that result from lack of confidence in the nation's medium of exchange.

The President selected as the occasion on which to announce his decision in this highly important matter the eve of the anniversary of Alexander Hamilton's birthday. By so doing he brought into sharp contrast two schools of finance, one headed by himself, the other having Hamilton as one of its principal exponents It is obviously only a coincidence that the President's declaration for protraction of the endurance of an unstable circulating medium was uttered only four days before the one hundred and forty-fifth anniversary of the submission to congress of Hamilton's classic report on finances. Yet the Roosevelt of 1936 should be grateful to the Hamilton of 1790, for it was Hamilton—"he touched the dead corpse of Public Credit and it sprung upon its feet"—who built the edifice of confidence that has withstood the attacks of the innovating wastrels now in Washington. From the store of common sense and integrity which Hamilton provided for his countrymen, these three sentences are taken:

"There is no sentiment which can better deserve the serious attention of the legislature of a country than the one expressed in the speech of the President, which indicates the danger to every govment from the progressive accumulation of debt. A tendency to it is perhaps the natural disease of all governments; and it is not easy to conceive anything more likely than this to lead to great and convulsive revolutions of empires. On the one hand, the exigencies of a nation creating new causes of expenditure, as well from its own, as from the ambition, rrapacity, injustice, intemperance and folly of other nations, proceed in increasing and rapid succession. On the other, there is a general propensity in those who administer the affairs of government, founded in the constitution of man, to shift off the burden from the present to a future day; a propensity which may be expected to be strong in proportion as the form of the state is popular."

True a century and a half ago, these words are true today, and the country that ignores them must pay a heavy penalty for its folly.

BROWN TALKED OF

(Iron Mountain News)

TALK of nomination for governor of Representative Brown now engages the attention of the Democrats. It was some months ago predicted in apparently well informed circles that Judge Murphy would return from the Philippines to take the assignment. This he would undoubtedly do if the President desired it, and if the state leaders were agreeable.

But there is now, apparently, disposition among the political chiefs at the capital to permit the state leaders to come ,to their own decisions. They may not be as convinced as they seemed to be some months ago that Judge Murphy is the strongest candidate who could be named. They may apprehend that if they interfered too much in party decisions within the state they would open up a schism that would cost votes. They may also be moved by the consideration that Judge Murphy has met the demands of his high offices in the Philippines in a manner that has reflected credit on the administration, as well as on himself, and that it is the part of wisdom to permit him to continue in service as commissioner while the new government is firmly establishing itself. As for Judge Murphy himself, it has all long appeared that his preference lay on the side of continued service in the islands. He has one of the most distinguished and remunerative posts in the gift of the government.

For the candidacy of Mr. Brown, now being weighed as possible nominee, there would be much to be said. He managed during the strife in the party in the Comstock administration to keep, without doing anything to impair his dignity, on good terms with the various groups of leaders. In his service in the house he has given evidence of respectable ability and in his relations with all with whom he has given evidence of respectable ability and in his relations with all with whom he has come in contact he has shown himself a personable man. The principal objection likely to be urged against him is the one of age. But while he is younger than most candidates for office of such importance he is no fledgling, and if in the course of a canvass he showed grasp of state affairs and gave evidence of character and strength, it would doubtless be the verdict that he was old enough for the job.

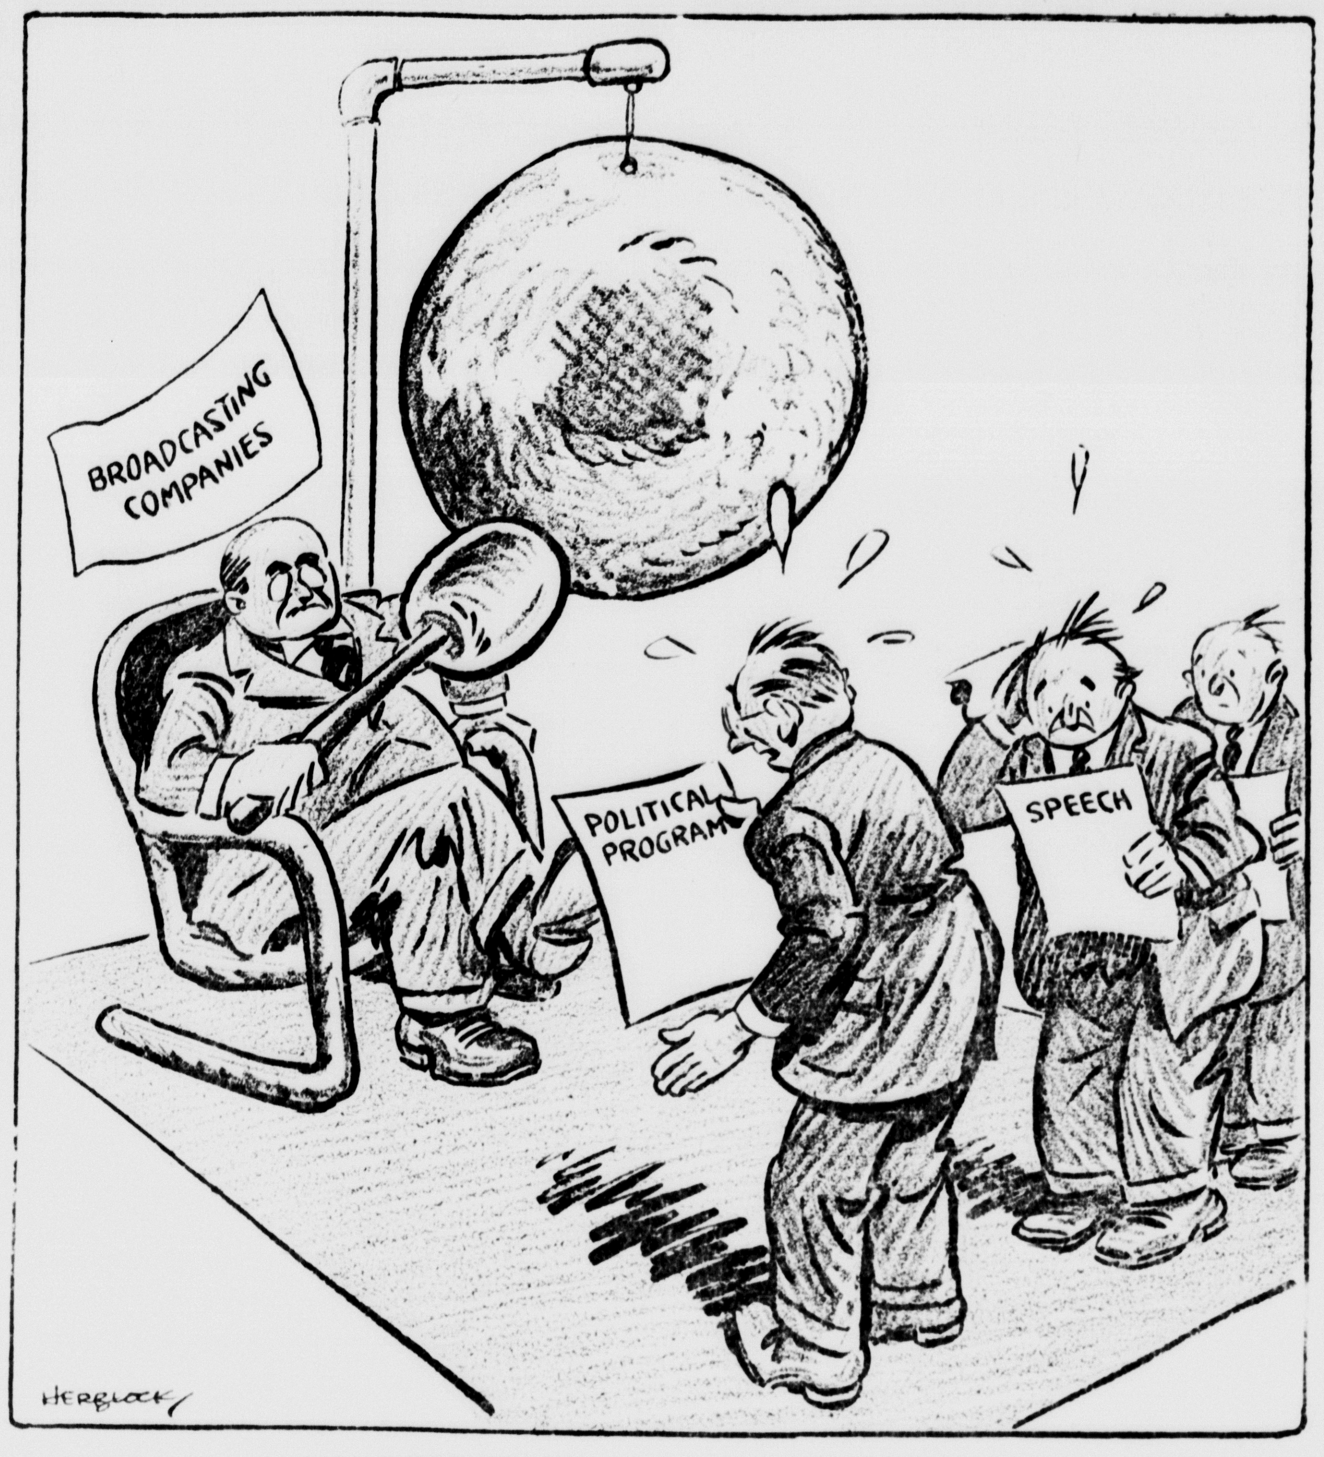
THE GUY WITH THE GONG



The Literary Guidepost

BY JOHN SELBY

"THE FLOATING REPUBLIC: AN ACCOUNT OF TWO GREAT MUTINIES IN THE BRITISH NAVY," by G. E. Manwaring and Bonamy Dobree (Harcourt, Brace).

WE SAT near a charming, slightly nit-witted female the other night at a performance of "Mutiny on the Bounty." She was artfully blonde and spoke with a slight lisp. And when the barge came alongside Captain Bligh's ship, bearing the dead man who was being flogged through the fleet, this human cream-puff whispered:

"I think that's terrible; I know nothing like that ever happened."

It's too bad we didn't have "The Floating Republic" under our arm. The subtitle of this book is "An Account of Two Great Mutinies in the British Navy," the authors being G. E. Manwaring and Bonamy Dobree. It not only tells the story of the mutinies at Spithead and the Nore in the year 1797, but describes the conditions which led to these mutinies. From the book the lady with the lisp would have learned that flogging through the fleet was not only a common occurrence, but that the impossibility of withstanding a flogging with the cat alongside each ship was so well known that hanging was offered the victim as a substitute. And chosen quite often.

Captain Bligh was better, not worse, than the average of his type in the British navy at that time. It was the usual thing for the meat served the men to be years old; to be so hard it could not be eaten. In fact, the men sometimes carved the meat into boxes, and they found that it would take a very good polish.

So that both mutinies were amply justified, both by conditions and by the stunning stupidity with which the admiralty handled the preliminary situations. At Spithead the mutineers managed their revolt skillfully and were successful. At the Nore the management was faulty and the results less successful. Yet Messrs. Dobree and Manwaring point out that even these mutinies produced rather slow improvement; flogging was not abolished until 1879!

"Perhaps, after all," the authors conclude, "it is true that 'History teaches, that history teaches mankind nothing'."

New York Column

BY JAMES B. RESTON

NEW YORK—Maxwell Anderson has escaped the wanton lunacy of Broadway more successfully, perhaps, than any other first rank dramatist of our times.

He has simply stayed away from the mad merry whirl, returning each year with a clean new script, which miraculously and almost inevitably turns out to be a hit play. This year, his Winterset has had the critics arguing for weeks. A weird, bitter, poetical drama of revenge and madness in New York's slums, Winterset stands out today as a candidate for this year's Pulitzer award.

Winterset is Anderson's thirteenth play. I need only recite a few of the names of his former works to indicate how successful he has been: What Price Glory (with Lawrence Stallings), Elizabeth The Queen, Both Your Houses, Mary of Scotland.

Anderson cares nothing for the transitory clamor of the Broadway crowd. To him right now all doors are open. But he gets away from New York as soon as his plays open (he watches the opening night performance from the balcony) and vanishes until he has another play ready.

A former reporter, he shuns reporters now. What he thinks he reports on the stage, not in interviews. He doesn't even turn his plays over to the New York publishers; he gets them out himself.

OF ALL the husbands of famous wives, Guthrie McClintic has fought out of the shadow (Katharine Cornell's) more successfully than any man I know.

If it were necessary to choose the outstanding director on the American stage today, which, fortunately, it is not, it would be difficult to take the honor away from him. This year already, he has directed his wife's production of Romeo and Juliet, which recently finished a triumphant tour; Winterset, the Anderson drama, which is well established in the hit class; Parnell, the political romance, which is also one of the really fine plays of the year; and Ethan Frome, one of the midseason's most promising plays.

Last year, he directed The Old Maid, which won the Pulitzer prize and is now making a successful tour. His next venture will be the direction of Miss Cornell's Saint Joan.

THERE are a lot of typewriters tapping out stories of human misery in this town. Every other man is a novelist, or a reporter. But there is one machine which records more sorrow than any other: the teletype in police headquarters on Center Street. Every hour of the day it taps away reports from precincts all over the city: a woman dying in the street somewhere in Brooklyn; a gun fight down town; a baby choking to death in the Bronx.

Supt. Gerald Morris watches it most of the time during the day. At night, the acting captain in charge sits by the machine and listens to its sorrowful story.

AS PLAIN AS PRINT

The rain is right unpleasant, ,
 Till you think about the crops.
And then you're glad it's present,
 And you're sorry when it stops.
You rise and find it rainin',
 And it rains for hours and hours.
Of course, you start complainin'—
 Then you think about the flow'rs.

It's so with almost any
 Of the cares that come along:
There aren't very many
 That are altogether wrong.
I've had my care, and double,
 As a man and as a boy,
Yet learned more truth from trouble
 Than I ever learned from joy.

The Summertime deceives you,
 For the sun's that sort of friend:
Some day it up and leaves you,
 And the Summer's at an end.
But, plain as any printer
 Ever printed anything,
It's only in the Winter
 That you're certain of the Spring.

AAA DECISION CAUSES MIXUP

Budget Plans Go Awry; Gov't Seeks to Prevent Suits

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1936, Escanaba Daily Press)

Washington, Jan. 16—The size of the muddle created by the new deal's violation of the Constitution in levying processing taxes has been only dimly realized. Apart from the task of satisfying the farmers—which perhaps is the easiest of all, for ultimately a direct subsidy or bounty will be authorized—there's the larger problem of how to unscramble the situation growing out of collected and uncollected taxes.

Some amazing complications are developing. Thus, one big company of processors has just been notified that, although it claimed on its income tax return a deduction in 1934 for processing taxes paid the government itself, the deduction cannot be allowed because the tax was illegally collected.

Seek To Prevent Suits

When the company in question tries to get the tax back so that it can be a part of its income, the government says "no."

Indeed, way and means are being contrived to prevent the processors from geting any of the funds now impounded in the custody of the federal courts. Conferences during the last twenty-four hours have been held between representatives of the department of justice, the treasury department and the agricultural adjustment administration as to the policy that should be recommended to the president.

The AAA officials are holding out for an act of congress that will prevent any suits against the government to recover the $1,000,000,000 collected and paid in by the processors before the lower courts began granting injunctions.

Wants Excise Tax

As for the $200,000,000 collected since then and in the hands of the courts, the AAA wants a retroactive excise tax proposed so as to recapture 100 per cent of these funds. The treasury and department of justice officials aren't sure of their legal rights, and in the meantime United States attorneys are being told to ask federal judges not to pay back the processing tax money, the reason given being that the department has under consideration an application for a re-hearing by the Supreme Court of the United States of the rice millers' case, on which a unanimous decision was handed down on Monday of this week.

It is apparent that the government officials are stalling for time, hoping they'll have a policy worked out soon before the judges turn back the $200,000,000.

The chief objection being raised here to the taxation retroactively of the funds is that the small processors gave price concessions, borrowed money to pay processing taxes, and some of them may be forced into bankruptcy if they have to pay the tax to the government.

To meet this objection, government officials are considering a plan whereby the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would make loans payable over a period of years, so that the small processors could pay the taxes and the government could apply the tax then equally to large and small companies.

May Be Held Invalid

One of the difficulties that the government may run into is that a retroactive tax may itself be held invalid under certain circumstances. Thus, only last November, the "United States Law Week" cites a case decided unanimously in the U. S. court of claims declaring that a retroactive tax on silver speculation is invalid. In this opinion, there's a quotation from Supreme Court decisions in three important cases where it was held that "if at the time a citizen enters into a transaction it is not taxable and he has no reason to believe or expect a tax will in the future be imposed by reason of it, a valid tax thereon cannot be laid by a subsequent statute."

For this reason, it may be that the government will have no real right to get the impounded funds by a retroactive exaction, though, to be sure, it might be difficult actually to keep the funds in the hands of the court. This is because an order to restrain the collection of the new tax might not be issued, particualrly if, in the new statute, there is provided some supposedly adequate remedy at law. So the situation may develop into one where another illegal tax is imposed, the funds go into the treasury, and the citizen will spend years fighting through the court of claims to recover.

The whole mix-up puts a further crimp in the budget picture. First, there's an estimated deficit in AAA receipts of about $120,000,000, as compared with expenses, even if the processing taxes had been collected in full. In other words, the AAA was out of balance by $120,000,000 in paying the farmers more than could be collected. Now congress is expected to appropriation in addition about $232,000,000 to pay farmers for fulfilling contracts entered into illegally, to be sure, but the new deal says on a high moral obligation just the same.

This makes a total of $552,000,000, and if, by some scheme of adroit law-writing, the $200,000,000 can be diverted from the custody of the federal courts into the federal treasury, then there'll be about $352,000,000 which will have to be appropriated. Mr. Roosevelt didn't provide for this in his budget, any more than he did for work relief or the soldier bonus. The chances are slight, therefore, that the fourth Roosevelt budget will show any material change from the three preceding budgets. It probably will continue a deficit in the neighborhood of at least $3,000,000.

Morgenthau Quizzed on Financing of Bonus

Despite testimony by Secretary Morgenthau that $11,300,000,000 would have to be raised in the next 17½ months, the senate finance committee approved a baby bond repayment plan with which to finance the soldiers' bonus. Early action on the bill in the senate, expected to result in decisive passage, was predicted. Left to right: Chairman Harrison of Mississippi; Sen. Couzens of Michigan, Sen. Courthouse Wiring Will Be Repaired

A meeting of the building and grounds committee of the Delta county board of supervisors has been called for Monday afternoon to receive bids for repairs to the electrical wiring system at the courthouse.

Recent inspections revealed overloads on some of the circuits, and the distribution is to be revised to eliminate these hazards. The committee will also take up the matter of repairs at the sheriff's residence. The members of the committee are: Jay Kleiber, chairman; Carl E. Anderson, John S. Back, William Blake and Peter N. Logan.

WORK PROPOSED ON WATERWAYS

Keweenaw Project Given Approval by Chief of Engineers

Washington (AP)—Further improvement of harbors and waterways in Upper and Lower Michigan was recommended in the rivers and harbors report issued today by the chief of engineers of the United States army.

The report includes projects in the area of the Detroit River and Lake St. Clair, harbors and rivers on both the east and west sides of the lower peninsula. The Keweenaw waterway across Keweenaw county and other waterway improvements in the Upper Peninsula are included.

The sum of $190,000 can be "profitably expended" during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937, said the report, on the completion of channel dredging in Lake St. Clair. The work is now about 86 percent complete, and the report recommends that United States hopper dredges be used in deepening the midlake channel to a depth of 25 feet and dredging the westerly half of the channel in the lower end of the lake.

Balance Unexpended

Out of $3,907,151.59 appropriated for the work to June 30, 1935, the report shows a balance unexpended of $1,603.56.

Dredging operations in the Detroit river channels used by ship traffic between Detroit and the lakes, removed 390 cubic yards of boulders from the navigation route through the Amherstburg channel last year, and the report recommends that dredging and diking operations could be financed during the summer and fall of 1936 with an expenditure of $168,000, of which $130,000 would go for deepening the outer channel of the river to Lake Erie.

The expenditure of $250,000 for the construction of two compensating weirs in the St. Clair river at Port Huron, was recommended in the report, along with the expenditure of $10,000 for maintenance and $30,000 for dredging the head of the Russell Island shoal.

The report recommended an expenditure of $75,000 during 1937 on the harbor at St. Joseph, deepening the channel from Lake Michigan to the mouth of the Benton Harbor canal and turning the basin, to 21 feet; widening the channel above the government piers, and the basin, and deepening the Benton Harbor canal below the foot of Ninth street to 18 feet.

A profitable expenditure of $28,000 is recommended for Muskegon harbor. The work would include the repairing of the revetment around the old car ferry slip on the south side of the entrance channel. The work is contingent upon the availability of funds and the fulfillment of local cooperation requirements.

Channel Needs Widening

The improvement of Gray's Reef Passage, the only deep-draft navigable opening between the Straits of Mackinac and the waters east of Beaver, Fox and Manitou Islands in the northeasterly end of Lake Michigan was described in the report as urgently needed for a shorter and safer passage for large lake vessels. The sum of $132,400 was recommended for improvement during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937. It is proposed to widen and deepen the entire east channel.

Widening of the Brush Point turn in the St. Mary's River in Upper Michigan, and the widening of the upstream channel to Point Louise, were recommended in the report. The undertaking would cost $175,500. The river serves as a connecting link between Lake Superior and the lower lakes.

Although there are no funds available, the report said $50,000 could be profitably expended on the removal of Poe Reef shoal to a depth of 27 feet from the waterway between Bois Blanc Island in the Straits of Mackinac and the mainland at Cheboygan.

Former Rapid River Resident Called By Death In Minnesota

C. A. Lindquist, 70, a former resident of Rapid River, passed away Thursday morning at Little Falls, Minn. He had been in failing health for the past four years.

Mr. Lindquist was born in Toreboda, Westergotland, Sweden. After coming to this country he settled in Rapid River, living there for many years. He left for Little Falls 25 years ago.

Surviving are his wife and one step-son, Carl; also a brother, who lives in the west.

The body will be brought to Escanaba, arriving here Saturday morning and will be taken to the Anderson Funeral Home. Funeral services will be held in the funeral home chapel Saturday afternoon, Rev. John Hugo of the Calvary Baptist church officiating. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery.

OSCAR BYE TRANSFERRED

Sault Ste. Marie—Oscar Bye, formerly of the Sault, arrived today from Menominee, Michigan. He has been transferred by the Standard Oil Company. He will hold the position of city salesman for the company, replacing L. E. Hambeau, who will leave soon for Manistique, Michigan, where he has been transferred.

Special Rates Announced By Telephone Co.

Extension to all day Sunday of the same reduced rates which have been in effect on long distance station-to-station telephone calls after 7 o'clock each night, and the establishment of reduced rates every night and Sunday on person-to-person calls, become effective January 15. These changes will mean a large annual saving to Michigan telephone users, according to O. Sundquist, manager here for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

This additional discount in rates, which affects most calls between points on which the present station-to-station day rate is more than 35 cents, is the sixth major long distance telephone rate reduction offered by the Bell System since October, 1926.

This also is the first time that discounted rates have been offered on station-to-station day long distance calls on Sunday and the first that discounts ever have been established for person-to-person calls for any period. A person-to-person long distance call is one on which the operator is requested to locate a particular person at the distant telephone, while a station-to-station call is one made to a telephone by number rather than to some person in particular. A station-to-station call requires less time for making the connection than does a person-to-person call and therefore the rate is considerably less.

Kessler To Lose License; Justice Imposes $25 Fine

Pleading guilty to liquor law violations before Justice H. E. Ranguette Thursday, Merville J. Kessles, operator of the Pine Ridge tavern on US-2, was fined $25 and costs, and will have his beer license revoked.

He was arrested by the sheriff's department for selling liquor by the glass under a beer license and keeping his place open after closing hours.

In 1621—

This picture shows how the Jamestown Colonists exchanged tobacco for brides. They paid "120 pounds of the best leaf" for transportation of each future wife who came to the New World from England.

In 1936—

And here is a picture of the modern auction warehouse of today where the same type of leaf tobacco is sold on the open market to the highest bidder.

There is no substitute for mild, ripe tobacco to make a good cigarette—and there never will be

. . . and that is the kind we buy for Chesterfield Cigarettes.

In the tobacco buying season Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. buyers will be found at 75 markets where the Bright type of tobacco is sold, and 46 markets where Burley and other types of tobacco are sold.

All these tobacco men are trained in the tobacco business, and are schooled in the Liggett & Myers tradition that only mild, ripe tobacco is good enough for Chesterfield Cigarettes.

SLASH PROJECT BEING PLANNED

$275,000 Program Has Been Approved by WPA Officials

A $275,000 slash-disposal project which will put hundreds of men to work in northern Michigan this winter under direction of the Department of Conservation, has been approved by WPA officials at Washington. Crews will go to work this month.

Slash left in heaps or scattered haphazardly in the wake of timber operations will be systematically burned on thousands of acres of land to lessen the fire hazards to timber stands and heighten the effectiveness of fire suppression.

The project covers all of the counties of the upper peninsula and the counties of Antrim, Otsego, Montmorency, Alpena, Presque Isle, Cheboygan, Emmet, Charlevoix and the northern part of Grand Traverse county in the lower peninsula.

Operations will not be confined strictly to state forests or to state-owned lands not blocked in state-administered units, but will include private lands where slash constitutes a serious hazard and menace.

Roadsides in forest areas will be cleared of dead and down timber as well as slash for distances of 100 feet on each side. In large block-slash areas, slash will be removed in strips 400 feet wide especially alongside standing timber to lessen hazards and improve conditions for fire fighting.

Outdoor Life Show In Chicago April 20

Milo E. Westbrooke, Chicago, announces that the 12th annual Outdoor Life Exposition will be held at the Hotel Sherman in that city April 20 to 25, from Monday to Saturday inclusive. The affair will be staged on the large mezzanine floor of the hotel.

It is expected that the setting this year will consist largely of living young trees transported from northern points. After the show is over the trees will be turned over to Chicago women's organizations and planted with due ceremony in various city parks. Many park areas in Chicago are in need of trees, and the gift of a few trees will bring the names of northern communities and advertisers to the attention of thousands of Chicago women.

North Western Railway Celebrates Centennial

Yesterday was the 100th Anniversary of the chartering of the Galena and Chicago Union Rail Road—the road that was destined to become the first in Chicago and the first connecting that city with the West.

Now a part of the Chicago and North Western Railway, that little road was incorporated and given a charter by the state of Illinois on January 16, 1836 with "authority to build a railroad out into the prairie country and on towards, if not to, the Mississippi River, near the lead mines of Dubuque, Iowa and Galena, Illinois."

In "Yesterday and Today," a history of the Chicago & North Western Railway compiled by W. H. Stennett from annual reports of the various companies that went to make up the North Western System, the following Chicagoans are listed as commissioners receiving subscriptions for the stock of the Galena and Chicago Union in 1936: William Bennett, I. C. Goodhue, J. M. Turner, J. B. Thomas, Jr., Thomas Drummond, Peter Semple and E. D. Taylor. The following was the first board of directors: Theopilus W. Smith, president, Taylor, Goodhue, John T. Temple, Gregory Smith, Ebenezeer Peck, and James H. Collins. The charter fixed the capital stock at $100,000.

One peculiarity of the charter, proving the infancy of the railroad industry at that time, was that the directors were authorized to build a Turnpike Road on any portion of the route of the railroad with toll gates if they deemed it necessary . . . When sleighs were used in the Winter, the toll was to be half the summer charge.

Panic Stopped Work

Surveys of the proposed route were made by James Seymour from the foot of North Dearborn Street as far as the Des Plaines River but the financial panic of 1837 put a stop to the construction of this and many other roads in the United States. At one early stage, in 1839, piles were driven along what is now Madison Street and stringers placed upon them.

Elijah K. Hubbard succeeded Smith as president in 1837 and served until February 17, 1846 when William B. Ogden of Chicago, one of the early Mayors and political leaders, was elected president and continued as such for many years.

W. B. Ogden, John B. Turners, and a few other prominent midwesterners entered the "Picture" on February 24, 1847. At that time the charter and all of the property that was owned by the corporation were purchased from Elisha Townsend (of New York City) and Thomas Mather (of Springfield, Illinois) who had in some way become owners of the charter and property that belonged to the company as well as of more than a majority of its capital stock.

The directors in 1847 were, besides Turner and Ogden—Walter L. Newberry, Charles Walker, James H. Collins, W. H. Brown, Benj. W. Raymond, J. Young Scammon and Thomas Dyer, all of Chicago; C. S. Hempstead and Thomas Drummond of Galena, Ill.; W. N. Davis of Au Sable Grove, Ill., and Allen Robins of New York.

Morgan Made Survey

The actual survey for the railroad was begun by Richard P. Morgan, (late engineer on the Hudson River Railroad) as engineer in charge, at a salary of $2.50 per day! in September, 1847, near Chicago, "on the half-section line corresponding with the Center of Kinzie Street, on which course it continues for thirteen miles, crossing the Des Plaines River a little south of the St. Charles road." This "St. Charles Road" was the eastern part of "the stage road" from Chicago to Galena, Ill., and the eastern portion of it was also "the stage road" from Chicago for Dixon and Rock Island, and on it Frank & Walker ran stages for many years and until they were forced off by the completion of "The Galena" and other railroads.

After his preliminary survey Mr. Morgan issued a "Prospectus" in which he said that the probable earnings for the first year of the road would be about $393,000—(the average yearly gross earnings for the North Western in the last ten years has been almost 300 times that or $100,000,000). In his prospectus he advocated building the road eastward of Chicago to connect with the Michigan Central Railroad at New Buffalo on the State line between Michigan and Indiana. This was never done.

Strap Rail Used

Strap rail was used on the first construction between Chicago and the Des Plaines River because of the extraordinary and ruinous financial difficulties of Great Britain which tightened the money market in the United States and prevented the company from getting iron and engines from the east and from purchasing edge-rail for the road.

On October 24, 1848, the "Pioneer", the first locomotive to run on any railroad out of Chicago, was placed on the road. It had been delivered to Chicago by boat from the East.

The Chicago and North Western Railway System today comprises more than 10,000 miles of road in the nine states of Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, North & South Dakota and Wyoming. The system is a result of a series of constructions, consolidations, and purchases of railroads under various corporate names and during a long series of years. The Galena and Chicago Union Railroad was the first of the many corporations that go to make up the System as a whole.

RRA Offers Aid To Growers Of Certified Spuds

Announcement has just been made that the Rural Resettlement administration will finance the cost of seed, fertilizer and insecticides for a selected list of farmers who wish to grow certified seed potatoes and who cannot obtain other means of financing.

In order to qualify, the farmer must show that he has land suited to the growing of certified seed and that he has or can arrange for the use of suitable spraying machinery for properly complying with the requirements for growing such seed.

This move is prompted largely by the fact that at the present time there is a supply of about 5000 bushels of Irish Cobbler certified seed, the increase of stock that was brought here in 1932 direct from Prince Edward Island. It has proven to be a very superior strain, having been tried out both here and in tests conducted in some of the southern states. This seed is in demand for early spring planting in the southern states. However, we need this at home in order to increase our acreage as the outside demand for such seed is many times the present supply.

Many local farmers would like to grow certified seed but have not been able to finance it.

Farmers interested should act at once because much of the available stock will be sold or contracted for spring delivery in a short time.

A committee consisting of J. G. Wells, assistant county agricultural leader of Chatham; D. L. Clanahan, crops specialist of Michigan State college; B. A. Heath, agricultural agent of the D. S. S. & A., and George Perrin of the Resettlement administration of Escanaba will make up the final list of eligibles from the list of those submitted.

While the financing of the growing of Green Mountain seed may also be possible, yet the immediate aim of the project is to expand the Irish Cobbler seed production because of the large market demand from the south for this variety of seed.

COLD? Do These 2 Things Instantly!

A Simple Method that Anyone can Follow

1. Take 2 BAYER Aspirin Tablets. Make sure you get the BAYER Tablets you ask for.

2. Drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

Your doctor will approve this as perhaps the quickest, easiest way known to fight colds and sore throat.

The Bayer Aspirin taken internally will combat a cold almost instantly; if throat is sore, crush and stir 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in a third of a glass of water; gargle twice. Do not rinse mouth.

Saxophone solo—Wallace Bunker.

Play, directed by P. J. Aldus. The play is a dramatization of an actual court scene. It attempts to present the factors present in a typical delinquency case. The characters are:

The Judge—Douglas Belfry.

Mr. Smith, neighbor of the Browns—Hector Boogren.

Officer O'Brien—William Maki.

Mr. Brown—Harold Chase.

Mr. Wright, high school principal—Robert Putvin.

Dr. Eliot—Harry Stanford.

Harry Brown—Austin Marsh.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Munising—A meeting of the Piqua Woodenware Employees Welfare club was held at the Legion club Friday night. Officers for the new year were elected as follows:

President, W. B. Johnson; vice president, Mike True; secretary, Kate Johnson; treasurer, Lawrence Cady.

The outgoing president, William Springer, was presented with the order of "Old Mr. Boston" and a vote of thanks was given last year's officers.

During the meeting it was decided to stage a benefit dance sometime before the Lenten season and the following committee was appointed to take care of arrangements: Lloyd Lawie, chairman, Art LaFlam, Carl Lawie, Lawrence Cady and W. B. Johnson.

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed. Another meeting will be held in the next month to which all members and their wives or husbands are invited.

JESSIE SPARKS

Munising—Jessie, five months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sparks of Limestone, passed away at her home Wednesday afternoon. She was born on August 9, 1935, and had been ill only a short time previous to her passing. She is survived by her parents. Funeral services were held from the Bowerman Funeral Home yesterday afternoon.

Munising—Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Belonga, West Munising avenue, entertained a number of friends at their home Wednesday evening in celebration of their twentieth wedding anniversary. The evening was made up of a dinner party at which sixteen intimate friends were present, followed by a social evening. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Leonard and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Leonard of Manistique, and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wittler and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hicks of Au Train.

Mr. and Mrs. Belonga were recipients of a number of lovely gifts.

Munising Man Awarded Patent

BY PAUL MAY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16—Ingenuity and patience were rewarded today when a patent was issued to Nicholas J. Niks of Munising for a paper making machine.

Allowance by the patent examiners of twenty-six separate claims for new ideas testified to the Munising inventor's ingenuity. His patience was evident from the fact of having waited almost two years for his patent, having filed his original application January 25, 1934.

"In a method of paper manufacture, drawing a wire along one side of a body of paper stock upwardly and horizontally to distribute the stock thereon, agitating the stock in a plurality of zones while it is being deposited upon the wire, and thereafter regulating the depth of distribution of the stock and draining the water from the stock."

Battle Creek Gets Gift Of Airport

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 17 (AP)—Battle Creek today has a municipal airport. Transfer of the Kellogg airport, representing an investment of $100,000, from W. K. Kellogg, cereal manufacturer, to the city was made at a meeting of the city commission last night. It was a free and clear gift.

The airport was started in 1924 by the chamber of commerce, the chamber taking a five-year option on the 150-acre property, hoping that the city would purchase the land before the option expired. The city failed to buy and in 1928 Mr. Kellogg bought the property and installed needed equipment. He organized the Kellogg Airport Association, a non-profit corporation, which has been operating it since.

Plans to obtain $54,000 worth of improvements for the airport through the WPA have been announced by the city.

RELIEF LABOR STILL PUZZLE

Surveys Indicate WPA Isn't Meeting Problem

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
(Daily Press) Washington Correspondent

Washington—Along with its other troubles, the administration must almost certainly face a battle over relief at this session of Congress.

Its program apparently isn't meeting the problem. Surveys by the American Conference of Mayors, the International City Managers' Association, and national welfare groups all show that the plan to put the "employables" on WPA work relief and the "unemployables" on local direct relief without federal aid just isn't working out.

About a million "employables" haven't been covered by WPA, although that federal agency has about reached its quota of 3,500,000 put at work. It is estimated by Paul V. Betters, secretary of the mayors' organization, on the basis of partial results of a survey covering 188 cities and 48 states.

That would mean a load of from three to four million men, women, and children on community direct-relief facilities which was not contemplated in Roosevelt's work-relief program.

Nearly all city officials insist they can't handle that added load. A few say they can get by if the federal government will do its promised part. Others say they can't handle their "unemployables" even if WPA does take over the rest.

* * *

Money Soon Gone

Few realize it, but the $1,082,000,000 alloted to WPA will be about gone by April and Harry Hopkins will need about half a billion more if the program is to carry through the fiscal year to July.

Some or all of this may be snatched from other allotments from the $4,000,000,000 work-relief fund.

Meanwhile, WPA has no intention of expanding its program to take in the "uncovered" employables. Like many of the Community Chests at this time, it figures its money will run out all too soon. Anyway, there's no other explanation of why it insists on counting in 500,000 CCC workers among its 3,500,000 instead of adding another half-million of bona fide employables now on relief.

Another year of WPA, employing 3,500,000, would cost about two billion dollars. The demand for further federal aid, both for the present fiscal year and next, may be effective enough to spoil Roosevelt's budget dreams even more than the AAA ruling did.

Two Wolves at Door

Congressman Vito Marcantonio of New York: "The American people are beginning to realize that in the place of the Hoover fantastic myth of two chickens in every pot, the New Deal and the New York city administration have substituted the stark reality of two wolves at every door."

Women's Bowling League Organized At Hermansville

Hermansville, Mich. Jan 15—On Tuesday evening Jan. 14th Thirty-two ladies met at the Hermansville Community club to reorganize the ladies bowling league. Eight of these ladies were from Spalding, one from Escanaba. George Curran, secretary of the club, opened the meeting. The ladies voted on the following officers:

President—Mrs. G. H. Earle.

Vice President—Mrs. Schetter of Spalding.

Secretary—Mrs. L. La Cosse.

Treasurer—Mrs. Floriana.

It was decided that the women would bowl at 7:30, Tuesday and Friday nights. There will be six ladies on a team; the lady bowling the lowest score at the end of each line will be substituted.

They also decided on a handicap of one hundred percent, and the absent members average for a blind. Each lady will pay an extra five cents a night, which will be used for a bowling supper at the end of every two months.

Six teams were organized namely.

Smiling Sixes—Mrs. Floriana, captain.

Village Watchman Target Of Gunmen

Grand Ledge, Mich., Jan. 17 (AP)—State and county officers searched today for four gunmen who fired on the night watchman here in the early morning hours. He was not wounded.

Joseph Lapp, 52, said he was patrolling his "beat" when a large black sedan slowed beside him and the four occupants opened fire with pistols. He did not recognize the men or obtain the license number of the car.

Lapp said he did not know what could have been the motive unless men he had arrested in the past sought revenge.

Amy emerged from the dressing room, hooking a flowered print dress. "Hullo, Peter. I warn you about Miss Craig tonight. This is one of her moody days."

Peter and Julia exchanged glances which told Amy that Peter Kemp was all too familiar with Julia's "moody days."

"Is that right?" he said lightly. "I'm afraid I'm in for it, then."

"I'm afraid you are," said Amy and disappeared into the dressing room again. "However," she called out, "I hope you have a good time."

When Peter and Julia were outside in the hall, he said, "Amy didn't really seem very hopeful that we would have a good time. What's wrong, Julia? Got the blues again?"

Julia nodded. "I'm afraid so, Peter. But they're not so bad this time. At last I've decided to do something about them."

He pressed the button for the automatic elevator, and said quietly: "I don't suppose that means you'll marry me?"

"N-no, Peter. I—" Julia hesitated. "I'll tell you all about it at dinner."

They ate in a little restaurant near the apartment, for it developed that Peter had to complete his work at the office. It was on the big public utilities case that Julia had mentioned to Amy, and Peter had to prepare a brief for a phase of it. When the coffee came, Peter offered his cigarets and said, "All right, Julia. Let's have it."

"I want to quit Woodford and Brooks, Peter."

"Yes? What then?"

"You've decided to try?" exclaimed Kemp. "Say, right now you're better than nine-tenths of these dames who get paid for it in the night clubs!"

"You really think so?"

"I know it, Julia."

"Then will you give me a note of introduction to your friend, Henri Lamb, who leads the band at the Green Club?"

The directness of her question surprised Peter. "Why—I—"

"Will you, Peter?"

"Why, of course, if you're really serious. But I don't see—"

"My mind's made up, Peter. And you can help me, if you will. You've known Lamb a long time."

"I'd do anything in the world for you, Julia. You know that. I'll—I'll write the note tonight and give it to you tomorrow morning at the office.

Training School For State Park Officials Planned

The first training school for superintendents of state parks in Michigan will be conducted by the Department of Conservation at the Pigeon River State Forest headquarters, northeast of Gaylord, from Jan. 26 to 31, inclusive.

A class of 25 state parks superintendents from various parts of the state will be enrolled for this school.

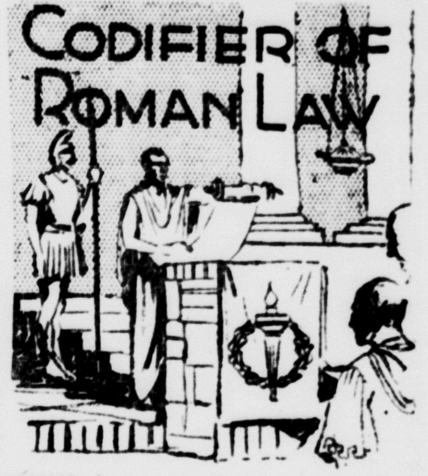
STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein



THE laws of Rome were in a confused state when the great Emperor Justinian ascended the throne in 527 A. D. Within a year, he had ordered his minister, Tribonian, a famous jurist, to compile the decisions, writings, and opinions of the early Roman judges and codify them. In 534, 14 centuries ago, Tribonian presented Justinian with what has come down as one of the most comprehensive and influential legal codes ever produced.

These Pandects, as they are called, fill some 50 volumes, and form the basis of law throughout Europe. As a result, this emperor is remembered mostly for the unified laws he gave to the world.

In November, 1934, the International Juridical Congress was held in Rome, and marking this event a set of stamps was issued. The lower values commemorate issuance of Emperor Justinian's Pandects, in 534, and illustrate Tribonian presenting the code to the emperor.

Michigan In Washington

Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

The other day the chap in the Bureau of Engraving, who is responsible for the design on the Michigan Centennial stamp, was good-naturedly twitted that the seal, which forms the center of the design, was not really the official emblem of the state. Designer Alvin J. Meissner defense was admirable — he admits he tampered with the official design, but only to put the lettering inside of the circle to allow more space for state flags, water and forest scenes. He feels more chagrined that he did not get a Michigan automobile on the one-inch design.

Money has been released for the Traverse City hanger and airport. WPA improvement — the neat sum of $41,140. Now it is up to State Administrator Pierson when the work begins.

Every congressman has his own system of trying to do justice to the hundreds of bills presented in the House of Representatives . . . But none could have a more exhaustive policy than Congressman Crawford. On all the major bills, he makes his own survey thereby getting himself known in the Congressional library as "that Michigan congressman who takes out so many reference books". He comes to work at 7 o'clock and stays far into the night, while more and more his office is known by other congressmen as a good place to get a needy bit of information on pending legislation.

That Michigan has a progressive reputation is well evidenced in the number of these selected to serve on the committees appointed to the Social Security board. On the general advisory committee is F. H. Fljovdal, president of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way employees; on the maternal and child health committee is Dr. Lillian R. Smith, director of Child Hygiene and Public Health Nursing, of Lansing; on the Crippled Children's committee are Harry H. Hewett, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Crippled Children's commission, of Lansing, Mr. Paul H. King, president of the International Society for Crippled Children, Inc., of Detroit, and Mrs. Dora H. Stockman, president of the national Grange of East Lansing.

A bit young for the role, but enjoying it thoroughly, is Miss Shirley Ann Blackney, who is the official hostess for her Congressman father, William W. Blackney of the sixth district.

Among the visitors from back home spotted in Congressmen's offices are: Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dornboss of Grand Haven who were saying "hello" to Congressman Mapes, en route to Florida; George A. Schroeder, speaker of State House of Representatives, Harold F. Gross, general manager of WJIM Lansing radio station, Varnum Steinbaugh, chief engineer of the State Highway department.

Additional relief for depositors of closed banks is the objective of the bill to cut interest charges on RFC loans to a maximum of 3 percent, introduced Monday by Congressman Clarence J. McLeod, of the thirteenth district.

Along the state line between Michigan and Wisconsin, it pays to live on the Wisconsin side if you are working on a WPA project for it seems the Michigan men must work 140 hours for their security wage of $44 a month, while their neighbors work but 120 hours. Congressman Hook is trying "to do something about it" —not only does he hope to reduce the hours but also increase the salary.

MARKET BASKET

Cranberry Match-Stick Ring

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin

1 pint warm sweetened cranberry juice

2 cups celery, cut in match-stick pieces

1 red apple, cored and cut in match-stick pieces

½ cup mayonnaise

Dissolve gelatin in warm cranberry juice. Turn into ring mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Toss celery and apple match-sticks together with mayonnaise. Pile in center of cranberry mold. Garnish with additional mayonnaise, chicory, chopped truffle, and pistachios. Serves 6.

Puree of Split Peas

One cup dried split peas, 2 quarts cold water, ½ onion, 2 frankfurters, 1 bay leaf, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon white pepper.

Pick over peas and soak several hours. Drain. Add cold water, onion, bay leaf and one of the frankfurters. Simmer three or four hours, until soft. Rub through a sieve, season with salt and pepper and reheat. Cut the second frankfurter in very thin slices and serve in the soup.

Peanut Butter and Potato Croquette

One-half cup peanut butter, 2 cups mashed potatoes, few drops onion juice, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 egg yolk, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, milk.

Use white of egg for crumbling. Mix ingredients in order given, using just enough milk to make moist. Shape into balls and roll in fine dry bread crumbs. Dip in white of egg slightly beaten with 2 tablespoons water. Roll again in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat. The fat should be hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread in 40 seconds. Drain on crumpled brown paper and serve with tomato sauce.

WINTER PLANE SERVICE

Houghton — Establishment of an airplane route between Isle Royale and the mainland, giving the mid-Lake Superior resort its first transportation contact with the outside world during the winter months, will be started Monday when the first plane makes the 45-mile hop to the island.

Official opening of the air service was approved by the federal government this week, the George W. Mead timber operators having obtained permission of the United States customs department and the immigration service at Duluth, following filing of the application in Washington.

The first plane will be piloted by S. A. Cheesman, Port Arthur. He will fly a seven-passenger Fokker super-universal seaplane equipped with skis. The craft will land on Holloran lake, about a mile and a half from the lumber camp which is located on the southwestern side of the island, near Siskiwit bay.

MARKET BASKET

Quality Pudding

Three eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup chopped walnuts, 1 cup dates, few grains salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon colored. Mix and sift sugar and baking powder and combine with bread crumbs. Add with dates and nuts to beaten yolks and fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff. Add vanilla and spread about three-fourths thick in a shallow pan which has been buttered and dusted with flour. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Cut in squares and serve with whipped cream slightly sweetened and flavored with vanilla.

Cream of Corn Soup

Two cups canned corn, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 cups milk, ½ small onion, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon white pepper.

Melt butter and add onion. Cook until butter bubbles over a very low fire. Sir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and remove onion. Season with salt and pepper and add corn which has been rubbed through a coarse sieve. Reheat and serve with pimento whipped cream.

Pimento Whipped Cream

One-half cup whipping cream, 1 canned pimento rubbed through a sieve, few grains salt.

Whip cream until firm. Add salt and pimento and drop a spoonful on each bowl of soup.

Oyster Bisque

One pint of oysters, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 3 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, few gratings nutmeg, ¼ cup whipping cream, paprika.

Clean oysters and scald in their own liquor. Drain and add enough water to make one cup of liquid. Chop oysters fine. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk. Season with salt and pepper and bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Add oyster liquid and bring to the boiling point. Add oysters and nutmeg and let simmer over hot water for fifteen minutes. Whip cream until firm and fold into soup just before serving. Serve sprinkled with paprika.

Queen of Puddings

One cup soft bread crumbs, 2 cups milk, 2 eggs, ½ cup sugar, 1 lemon (grated rind), 1-8 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, currant jelly, 4 tablespoons powdered sugar, juice of ½ lemon.

Soak crumbs in milk for half an hour. Beat yolks of eggs well with ½ cup sugar, add salt, grated rind of lemon and vanilla and stir into bread and milk mixture. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until firm, about 40 minutes. Spread with jelly and cover with whites of eggs beaten until stiff with powdered sugar and juice of ½ lemon folded in. Put in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) to puff and brown the meringue. Serve warm with any sauce.

THESE FACTS ABOUT BRAN HAVE BEEN PROVED BY TESTS

Supplies Gently Acting "Bulk" to Aid Regular Habits

Now and then, in talking with your friends, the subject of bran has come up. So that real facts might replace unsupported opinions, the Kellogg Company has aided for some years research in leading nutrition laboratories.

Studies made on a group of healthy women showed that two tablespoonfuls of bran daily continued to relieve constipation* over a period of months. How different from cathartics—where dosage often must be increased.

Another series of tests on men indicated that, with some people, the "bulk" in bran was much more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables.

Further tests showed that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provided vitamin B and iron as well as "bulk." This "bulk" absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system — the right way to correct constipation.

Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Either as a cereal, with milk or cream, or in cooked dishes. It is a natural laxative food. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

St. Anne PTA Hears Supt. John Lemmer

In a talk that captured his audience from beginning to end, Supt. John A. Lemmer yesterday afternoon addressed members of St. Anne's Parent-Teacher association on the subject, "Reading Readiness." Mr. Lemmer explained how children who have left the kindergarten but are not yet ready for the first grade on account of reading difficulty, will be given special attention in a class by themselves. He also stated that many parents who had been interviewed on the matter, welcomed the project.

He also explained the new system of report card marking with which some of the schools are experimenting, and said many parents were very enthusiastic about the new method.

The meeting which was held in St. Anne's hall was well attended. In addition to Mr. Lemmer's talk, a splendid article from the National Parent-Teacher magazine on "Safety" was read by Mrs. Arthur Villeneuve, first vice president of the unit. The president's message from the Michigan Parent-Teacher was read by Robert Beaudoin.

Mrs. Thomas St. Jacques gave the report of the by-laws committee and read the revised by-laws which were subsequently adopted by the members present. Mrs. Villeneuve gave a report of the motion picture committee.

The assembly voted to contribute its share to the Council towards the traffic safety signs which the Safety Council contemplates placing in school zones.

Mrs. Louis Belanger, National Parent-Teacher magazine chairman, distributed several copies of the publication among the members for their inspection.

Mrs. Henry Anderson was appointed Founders Day chairman for the February meeting. Miss Jeanette Moreau, music chairman, presided at the piano in the singing of "My Tribute."

The attendanace award was received by the seventh grade.

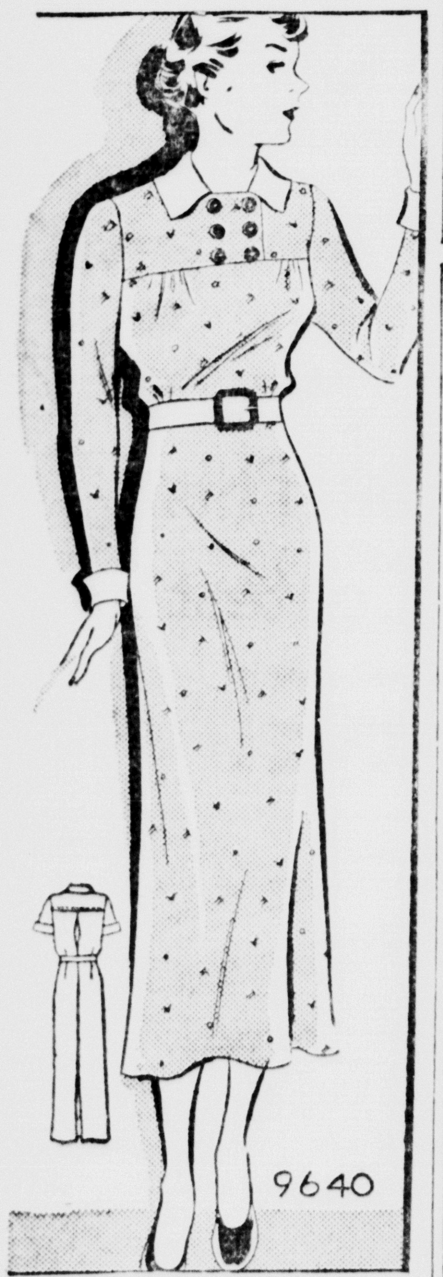
Simple Frock Is First In Popularity

BY MARIAN MARTIN



PATTERN 9640

This delightful, young frock's the sort that women love, and other women would give anything to own. If they but knew, it's well within the reach of every woman who makes her frocks for its minimum yardage requirement, and extreme simplicity of its easy-to-make features endear it to matron, business woman and co-ed. A variation of the popular shirtmaker, its roomy action pleats are as practical for the sports enthusiast as they are for the one who bends over a desk all day, while a neckline that's worn either open or closed, is varied enough to suit every taste. A frock, too, that has many an exciting fabric possibility, so choose necktie silk, shirting, challis or jersey. Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9640 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3⅜ yards inch fabric and ⅝ yard contrasting.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

THE NEW MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK will be ready for mailing December 18. Place your order now, and be among the first to receive a copy. It's a practical pattern book that interprets Spring's newest fashions in thrifty, easy-to-make clothes for the whole family! PRICE of BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

First Twins Born in Matanuska

Arrival of these twins was an event to be given a prominent place in the annals of the Matanuska valley in Alaska, for theirs was the first dual birth since colonization of this far north district. The proud mother, smiling as she holds a girl on each arm, is Mrs. Henry Rossiter, formerly of St. Louis, wife of one of the settelrs making farm homes for themselves under the government's rehabilitation plan.

Franklin Holds Group Sessions, General Meeting

Two group meetings and a general session of the Franklin Parent-Teacher association were held Wednesday afternoon at the school building.

At the Child Psychology class meeting an interesting report on "Newer Ways With Children," O'Shay, was given by Mrs. Kryn Bloom. Franklin mothers who were unable to attend the meeting, it was announced, may obtain this book and several other new books on child training at the Carnegie public library.

The general session of the unit was featured by a very instructive talk on "Reading Readiness" by Supt. John A. Lemmer. Mr. Lemmer also explained the new report card system which is now in effect at the Jefferson school.

The executive board of the unit met in advance of the regular meeting.

Winter Carnival Queen Will Compete For State Title at Petoskey Frolic

A trip to Petoskey and an opportunity to compete with winter frolic queens of other parts of the state for the title of Michigan's Winter Queen, will be the special award which will be presented the Queen of the Lions Winter Carnival, it was announced yesterday by the special committee in charge.

All expenses of the trip will be paid, and in addition to the honor of competing for the state title, the Queen will be able to attend the Petoskey Winter Frolic, one of the largest in southern Michigan, and an annual event which each year draws hundreds of visitors.

Selection of the Queen and her attendants, six in number, who will rule during the three-day frolic, January 31-February 2, will be made Sunday afternoon, as announced, at the hospital skating rink at 2 o'clock. Contestants must be on skates and in skating costume. The selection will be made by a committee of judges, on the basis of appearance, grace and ability on skates and poise.

The Queen and her Court will preside at the Carnival events, and will be the central figures of a colorful frolic, the closing night night of the carnival, features of which will be the coronation ceremonies, presentation of contest awards and a beautiful pantomime.

With nominations coming in in large numbers yesterday, indications are that close to one hundred contestants will appear in the parade before the judges Sunday afternoon, and arrangements are being made to handle a record crowd of spectators.

Church Events

Christian Science Churches

"Life" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 19.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Prov. 19:23): "The fear of the Lord tendeth to life: and he that hath it shall abide satisfied: he shall not be visited with evil."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 243): 'Sickness, sin, and death are not the fruits of Life. They are inharmonies which Truth destroy."

NEW PROJECTS TO START SOON

Funds for Three Improvements To Be Released Next Week

Three more Works Progress administration projects are scheduled to get under way sometime next week, it was announced by City Manager E. H. Waterhouse.

They are the new breakwater on the south shore off the boat harbor, a tree transplanting project in the city park to make way for highway rerouting, and a sewer project in the northern part of the city. Funds are expected to be released late this week or early next.

Construction of the new city hall, approval of which was given by taxpayers last fall when they voted a bond issue to assist in financing the project, will not be undertaken until sometime in March.

Materials and equipment for work on the breakwater has been requisitioned. Piling for the project has been donated by the Northwestern Cooperage and Lumber company.

Bainter Selects Forensic Team To Face Esky Tonight

Coach William H. Bainter yesterday named the trio which will handle the negative side of the argument in Gladstone high school's debate against Escanaba at the county seat tonight.

Speaking for Gladstone in the order in which they are named will be Jack Sinclair, Linda Jackson and Eleanor O'Brien. Richard Johnson is the alternate.

The argument was originally scheduled to be held before the holidays but an unforeseen contingency forced postponement.

The topic pertains to government control of the manufacture and sale of all munitions and instruments of combat which might be used in war.

Townsend Club To Be Organized Here On Tuesday Night

A meeting for the purpose of explaining the Townsend Pension plan is to be held in the council chambers of the city hall next Tuesday evening, Jan. 21.

Organization of a Townsend club in Gladstone is also contemplated, over eighty interested persons already having signified their intention of joining. An initial membership of fifty persons is required before a charter will be issued.

At the session Tuesday evening there will be outside speakers, visitors from other clubs and a member from California who will tell of the Townsend movement in the west where the plan was originated.

THEATRES

George Murphy, good-looking young dancer and screen star, is happily married to Juliette Johnson, his former dancing partner. Mrs. Murphy has had several screen offers, but she prefers to concentrate on matrimony.

NATIONAL BANK HOLDS MEETING

Officers and Directors for 1936 Are Selected

Officers and directors of the First National Bank in Gladstone were named during the annual meeting of the institution held here this week.

Shareholders of the bank named Elof Hanson, James T. Jones, F. A. Miller and Loyal Hanson, city, and Charles E. Good, Nahma, to the board of directors.

Directors then met and named the following official staff: Elof Hanson, president; James T. Jones, vice-president; E. J. Noreus, cashier, and E. H. Noblet, assistant cashier.

The bank, which is a member of the Federal Reserve Bank and the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, reported an increase in deposits from $250,000 to $375,000, or a gain of 50 per cent for the year.

The profit and loss account also showed satisfactory earnings, it was stated.

SOCIAL

Birthday Party

Mrs. Ole Sutterlund was the honored guest at a delightful party given her Tuesday afternoon at her home on 1524 Dakota avenue, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. About 15 friends were present. A pleasant social time was spent during which a delicious lunch was served. Mrs. Sutterlund was the recipient of many beautiful gifts.

High honors in bunco were won by Mrs. Pat Geist of Cedar River and second by Mrs. E. Bonville also of Cedar River. The door award was won by Mrs. William Geist, Cedar River. Towards the close of the evening a delicious lunch was served. Mrs. Carroll received many pretty gifts.

Interested Group Hear Talk On U. P.

An interested audience Wednesday evening at Gladstone high school heard Dr. John Lowe, head of the natural science department at Northern State Teachers college, Marquette, deliver a lecture on the subject, "Tramping Through the Woods of Upper Michigan."

Lowe talked on hiking, told what clothing to wear, how to pack a knapsack and what to put in it. He told of various experiences he had had, describing an overland hike from Grand Marais to Escanaba and also hikes in the Huron Mountain region, one of the Upper Peninsula's beauty spots.

Albert Wilmotte Funeral Services Saturday Morning

The body of Albert Wilmotte, 21, who passed away Wednesday, will be returned from the Allo funeral home to the family home, 1407 Dakota avenue, this afternoon at 3 o'clock to repose until the hour of last rites.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from All Saints' Catholic cuhrch, the Rev. Fr. S. Maier officiating. Interment will be made in Fernwood cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Truckey and Mr. and Mrs. John Jardin, Jr., of St. Nicholas visited Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Sutterlund, Dakota avenue.

CITY BRIEFS

Mrs. Myron Carroll left last night for her home at Cedar River after spending several days visiting here at the Ed LaBumbard home, Minnesota avenue.

Elwood Peterson and Elof Kinnie motored to Marquette yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams of Stonington visited in Gladstone yesterday.

Mrs. Beatrice Micin, Marquette, arrived here Wednesday and is spending several days visiting at the J. P. Carlson home, Kipling.

Mrs. Thomas Elegert has been dismissed from the St. Francis hospital.

Chief Warns Again About Night Parking

A city ordinance forbids parking over one hour between 12 o'clock midnight and 7 a. m. during winter months on any highway or street in the city.

New Girl Scout Troop Will Hold Party Saturday

Mrs. Roger White is captain and Mrs. Herbert Tag and Mrs Earl Raiche are lieutenants of a new girl scout troop recently formed in Manistique under the auspices of the Manistique Woman's club. Mrs. Charles E. Underwood is chairman of the Girl Scout committee of the club.

The new troop has been divided into three patrols, patrol names and officers are as follows: Gold Star patrol, Helen Tucker, leader and Loreen Smith, assistant leader; Wolverine patrol, Flora Bryant, leader and Kathrine Hughes, assistant leader; Butterfly patrol, Ruth Sellman, leader and Floella Hastings, assistant leader.

The troop meets at four o'clock every Monday afternoon at the American Legion Memorial cottage. Plans are being made for a series of hikes and social gatherings. Most of the girls already have passed their tenderfoot tests and are now preparing to pass other Scout tests.

The candy sale conducted by the members of the troop at the Newberry-Manistique basketball game on last Friday evening was reported to be very successful.

A sliding party for the troop will be held on Saturday. The Gold Star patrol members will make up the hostess group for the sliding party.

Record Books Now Ready At Office Of County Agent

"Farmers desiring to keep a simple farm account record of their own may secure, free of charge, a record book from the extension office either by calling or writing for it," says Lee Stewart, county agricultural agent.

Last year 150 copies of this record book were mailed to a selected list of farmers throughout the county. This year, however, we are not sending out any record books unless they are requested. Farmers securing the record books are obligated in no way as far as the extension office is concerned. The book is for your own use and for the keeping of those records which you desire to keep on your own farm.

FIRE LOSS IS LOWERED HERE

Seventy-Two Calls in '35 Bring City Losses to $2,891.00

The estimated loss by fire in the city of Manistique for the year 1935 was approximately $2,891.00 according to the report submitted by Fire Chief Charles E. Underwood at the last meeting of the city council. This loss is some $1,948.90 less than in the year 1934, and the lowest for the city in a number of years despite the fact that there were 17 more alarms in 1935 than in 1934.

The department answered 72 calls in the city during the year. The paid department handled 44 calls and the call men were used at 28 alarms. Expense to the city for call men amounted to $610.50.

Chimneys, either defective or dirty, were again the cause of the greatest number of fires during the year, accounting for 13 of the calls. The second most numerous type of fires was the brush and grass fire, which resulted in 10 calls. Other fires fall into the following classifications, with the number given for each: sparks on roof, 6; gasoline and gas stoves 6; furnaces and stoves, 4; rubbish, 5; automobiles, 8; spontaneous ignition, 1; electric wires and motors, 3; matches, 4; hot ashes, 4; smoking, 1; lightning 1; unknown, 2.

Losses for the past three years have been: 1933, $10,127.98; 1934, $5,839.90, and 1935, $2,891.00. In the same years the alarms were: 62 in 1933, 55 in 1934 and 72 in 1935.

New smoke masks and other minor equipment has been added to the department and all equipment and apparatus is reported in good condition.

Mrs. Swartstrom was presented with many nice gifts.

Firemen Called Out To Two Fires Here Wednesday

Two fires that resulted in calls to the fire department here on Wednesday were extinguished with little damage to the buildings in which they were located. In the morning at 10:50 the department was called to the Westside Drug Store where a pipe from the furnace caused the floor to become scorched. Practically no damage resulted.

Another hot furnace pipe brought a call at 5:25 o'clock in the afternoon from the Hewitt Grocery office and warehouse on North Maple avenue. The wall of the building had caught fire near the chimney and some slight damage to the building resulted before the blaze was quelled. It was necessary to use some water in fighting the fire. The quick action of the firemen protected a valuable stock of grocery merchandise stored in the building.

EXPLAIN DAIRY FEED SYSTEM

Dairy Specialist Details Method of Utilizing Feed on Hand

Dairymen in Schoolcraft county and the Upper Peninsula who have supplies of alfalfa hay, roots, silage and farm grown grains, such as, barley, oats, wheat or rye, may feed their dairy herds entirely on home grown feeds and maintain good production and good healthy animals by following a feeding system explained by R. E. Horwood, dairy specialist, at a series of meetings in Schoolcraft county. The only things that it is necessary to buy are odorless steam-bone meal, stock salt and iodine either in the form of potassium iodide or the feeding of iodized stock salt.

The system advocated has been practiced at Michigan State college, the Upper Peninsula Experiment Station and on a number of dairy farms throughout the state for the past three years. The results secured show that not only is the system workable but best of all it enables the dairyman to produce a pound of butterfat on one hundred pounds of milk at the lowest possible cost. After all the dairyman, selling to a creamery, is interested in two things: the price which he can secure for his product and the cost of producing that product. The difference between the two means his profit.

"Feed Buyers' Guide"

Someone with a mathematical mind, living in the states of Minnesota and Texas, wondered why it was not possible to have some simple system for use by the dairymen so that when buying feeds he might compare the prices of several different grains, or feed mixtures, quoted and be able to tell readily which one was the best buy. Accordingly, a system was worked out known as a "Feed Buyers' Guide." In this system ground corn or barley is taken as the basis of computation for all high energy feeds, while 43 per cent cottonseed meal is used as a base for the high protein feeds.

Comparative feeding values are assigned to all other grains and feed mixtures. The same has been done for the various roughages. All that the dairyman needs to do is to write in the blank column the local price per cwt. for the feeds he desires to purchase and by subtracting he has before him the information which tells which of the feeds being sold locally is the best buy.

The Feed Buyers' Guide, the directions for feeding under the new system where alfalfa hay is available, as well as suggested rations where clover or mixed hay is being fed, are all given in a three page circular available at the county agricultural agent's office.

"We will be glad to send any interested dairyman a copy of the winter feeding requirements for 1935-36, or if they will drop in at the extension office, will will be glad to explain the system and how to operate it properly," declared County Agent Lee Stewart.

The STRANGE CASE of JULIA CRAIG

by Nard Jones

Copyright NEA 1936

CHAPTEL I

Her arms pressing two bundles close against her slender waist and one small capable hand searching hurriedly for the key in her bag, Julia Craig stood before the door of the little apartment which she shared with Amy Sanders.

When at last she was successful in managing both the key and the two bulky bundles and had entered the apartment without mishap, Amy looked at her from the security of the room's one davenport. As dark as Julia was blond, Amy had reached home a few moments before, slipped into her red negligee and settled herself comfortably with a magazine.

"Sure," said Amy cheerfully. "But I knew you had a key."

"You knew it was my day to bring the groceries, too," said Julia from the kitchenet where she was disposing of the bundles on the diminutive tile drainboard. "And you knew I'd be loaded down like a truck horse."

* * *

"No worse than most I suppose," Julia said.

"Well," Amy sighed, "at least it's exciting to work for lawyers. You should try to sell the latest models to these old hens for eight hours a day."

"I'd think it would be interesting, Amy. You get a chance to see in the flesh some of these women I can see only through their pictures in the society section."

Amy snorted. "Personally, I'd rather look at them in pictures. I waited on Mrs. Hamilton Uzzon today. Ever hear of her?"

"Of course," Julia said. "She had a tea for the Garden Club last week."

"Yeah," said Amy irreverently. "Listen—the Uzzon bill hasn't been paid at our shop for a year and a half. Mrs. Hamilton Uzzon couldn't buy an extra button in our place unless she paid cash and all the girls have instructions to that effect. Mrs. Uzzon knows it, too—but she comes into the shop with her friends and tries on dresses by the hour. Then when it's all over she says, "Really, I think your gowns are getting awfully nondescript.""

"Well, if you had to listen to it you wouldn't have such a nice sense of humor," Amy mentioned. "And we all have to be nice to her because her husband may pay the bill any minute—and because she has influence."

"That's the whole story," said Julia reflectively. "You have to be nice to her, because she has influence."

She tossed the magazine to the foot of the davenport and brought her slippered feet to the floor. "What's got into you, Julia? You've been moping for weeks now. You used to be the life of the party when we'd have the gang in. Last time they were here you wouldn't even sing a song for us. And everybody knows you can make a song sound all right, even when the tune isn't go good and the words are absolutely senseless."

"What do you mean, 'everybody' knows it?" inquired Julia, getting up restlessly. "Maybe the gang, as you call them, knows it. But nobody else does."

"What do you care about that?"

Julia turned suddenly, her eyes gleaming. "I care a lot, Amy. I'm sick and tired of working for Woodford and Brooks."

"What if I do? Where does it get me?" Julia paced to the window and looked out. Then she said, slowly: "I'm 20, Amy."

Julia turned. "Maybe you are," she said cruelly, "but its not the kind of fun I want. Amy, I don't want to be George Woodford's secretary until I'm old. I'll—I'll be like Miss Jamieson down at the office. She's been there for 22 years."

"Aren't they?" argued Julia. "I'm not so sure. I think they are—until life gets them down."

* * *

Amy Sanders stared at the carpet a moment. Then: "Julia . . . you said Peter Kemp wanted to marry you. Why don't you take him up?"

"Because I don't want to," said Julia quickly.

"I haven't thought about love, Amy. But I've thought about some things that are a darned sight more important. Peter Kemp doesn't get any more money at Woodford and Brooks' than I do. They use him to brief their cases—then Mr. Woodford or Mr. Brooks goes into court and makes the brilliant showing. I don't want to marry a man like that, Amy."

Amy didn't reply at once. She reached for a cigaret from the pack on the little table. When she had lighted it and blown a pillar of smoke toward the ceiling, she said, "Well . . . I didn't mean you'd have to take Peter. But in a job like yours you have a chance to meet a lot of likely men."

"Oh, yes," said Julia. "We have a chance to meet men. But—" she faced her roommate squarely. "Amy, the average girl working in an office is stuck any way you look at it. We work for wages that most men wouldn't think of accepting; and we do plenty of work, too. Lots of times we correct the mistakes of men who get three and four times the salary we get. And you talk about the chances for meeting marriageable men—Amy, the men we meet are of two kinds, usually. The kind that want to marry us, but who can't improve our status. And the kind who offer something less than marriage—and expect us to like it!"

Amy looked at her roommate curiously. "All right," she said. "You don't like the way things are. What are you going to do about it?"

CHAPTER II

Julia said, without hesitation, "You know me well enough to know that if I didn't have some ideas for changing things I wouldn't be kicking." She took a long breath, then went on, "Amy, I'm going to try to do something with my voice. I don't mean anything fancy. But I know I have a knack for singing these modern songs."

Amy's tone was comically astonished. "You—you don't mean one of these female crooners?"

"I guess I'll have to get a radio," Amy said, aloud as if to herself. "I saw a perfect honey yesterday for $5 down."

"I'm not kidding, Amy. But I don't mean radio singing. I know perfectly well that I haven't the best voice in the world, and that maybe I'll have to use my face and figure, too." She laughed. "Assuming I have them. You're always telling me I have."

"You know perfectly well you have. Did you ever look at a man's face when you were singing one of these modern torch songs?"

Julia took a cigaret of her own, tapped its end against the table, then put it down without touching it to her lips. "I'm going to try to get a job singing, Amy. It's my only chance to be something and to meet the right men. I won't work at Woodford and Brooks' until I'm old—until I get panicky and marry the first man who comes along!"

Amy started toward the kitchen. "Well, let's forget it now and see what we can make of the groceries you brought home."

Julia started to put on a kitchen apron over her black dress, but she had hardly tied the knot at her waist when the telephone rang. It was Peter Kemp. "I'm sorry, but I haven't had the chance to call you before this. I worked late at the office. Hope you haven't started dinner yet, because I'd like to take you out."

* * *

Julia was hesitating at the telephone when Amy Sanders came in from the kitchenet. "Tell him you'll go to dinner with him," she advised quickly. "Royal Nesbitt is coming to take me out after dinner, and I'd have to hurry through it, anyhow."

"All right," said Julia into the mouthpiece. "I'd like to come, Peter."

When she replaced the instrument in its cradle she was facing Amy's amused smile. "I'm not weakening," she told Amy. "I happen to know that Peter has a friend who leads an orchestra. Maybe he can get me a chance to sing."

"I mean . . . he has money, and everybody in town knows he's not very serious-minded. Why is he giving you a run?"

"Why not?" asked Amy. "He likes me, and I think he's a lot of fun."

"I may be blond," said Julia. "But I'm not dizzy . . . yet."

"You're telling me?" asked Amy, and went to see to the percolator while Julia went into the dressing room which was also the hiding place for the fold-down bed. In that confined space, under a rather feeble electric light, she changed her clothes and prepared herself for Peter Kemp's call.

* * *

He rang the bell promptly a half hour later. He was a well set-up young man, neatly dressed and alert—and his eyes showed plainly that he worshipped Julia Craig.

"Sorry to creep up on you like this," he said when she let him in. "But I was working late at the office, and it suddenly occurred to me that I ought to stay downtown and have dinner with you—if you'd let me."

"I'm glad you thought of it tonight," Julia said, laughing. "Amy's all in a stir to get out for a date—so I don't think she'd be

BY FRANK MAC MILLEN
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .2 of a point at 57.7, largely propelled by the .6 of a point lift in the 15 utilities to a new 1935-36 high of 47.2.

Of the remaining components, the 30 industrials edged .1 of a point ahead, and the 15 rails were level.

Trading Pace Drops

The trading pace dropped back considerably from Wednesday's level, but was brisk enough, especially in the first hour, when the ticker lagged several minutes. Transfers on the stock exchange came to 3,124,491 shares.

Commodities, pursuing a rather narrow course most of the day, left the share market largely to its own devices. Cotton finally ended down 25 to 40 cents a bale. Wheat pushed up 1-8 to ½ cent a bushel, while corn was unchanged to 1-8 of a cent better.

During the day, its affiliate New York Telephone Co., reported a gain of 1,742 stations from January 1 to January 14, compared with a loss of 1,619 in the same period last year.

With one or two exceptions, the silver issues improved along with other non-ferrous metal stocks despite a cut of 1 cent in the New York price of bar silver to 48¾ cents an ounce, following an earlier reduction in London.

Louisville & Nashville scored a gain of more than a point at 65 when the road's directors declared a dividend of $2. The last payment was $1 in August. Atlantic Coast Line, which will benefit to the extent of $1,193,000 from the payment, because of its control of L. & N., was active and nearly a point better at 31¾.

Some of the issues which advanced 1 to better than 2 points included Bethlehem at 53 7-8, U. S. Pipe & Foundry at 29 5-8, Deere at 56⅝, Mohawk Carpet at 22 7-8, International Telephone at 16¾, Southern California Edison at 28¼, Atlantic Refining at 31, Newport Industries at 13, Allied Chemical at 168, American Locomotive at 28¼ and Pacific Gas at 34½. Others active and moderately improved included Consolidated Gas, Anaconda, Calumet & Hecla, Miami Copper, International Harvester, Union Carbide and Santa Fe.

Some issues moderately lower included National Biscuit, Chrysler, American Tobacco B, Standard Oil of N. J., Houston Oil and Pennsylvania.

Oil Stocks Still Improve On Curb

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—Continued improvement in oil stocks and modest gains among active utilities, was the central feature of trading on the curb market today.

Humble retained its leadership with an active demand at nearly a point higher; Creole gained a small fraction, also in active trading, and a better demand for American Gas, Electric Bond & Share, and Niagara Hudson lifted them minor fractions higher. Pan-American Airways gained a full point at 50.

Profit-taking overtook Hiram Walker, Sunshine Mining and Sherwin-Williams, all of which yielded slightly.

MONEY RATES

New York, Jan. 16—Call money, steady, 3-4 percent all day.
Prime commercial paper, 3-4 percent.
Rediscount rate, New York reserve bank, 1½ percent.

Great fires sometimes create clouds, and enough rain to extinguish the blaze.

Scientists generally accept the fact that the earth was created out of the substance of the sun.

BY G. A. PHILLIPS
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—The domestic corporate bond market resumed its advance today under leadership of low-priced rails, many of which established new high for the past several years.

In addition to the good showing in the carrier division, outstanding performances were turned in by a number of industrial issues that have been involved in reorganization proceedings.

Averages Steady

Transfers of $18,271,000 were some $4,000,000 under the previous session, and the turnover in governments fell to less than $750,000.

The Associated Press averages displayed marked steadiness. 20 rails advanced .2 of a point to 90.5, the highest level since 1931; 10 industrials improved .1 of a point at 103.5 and the other major groups were about unchanged.

Firm spots included International Telephone 4½s, up 2½ at 85½; Laclede Gas 5½s, up 1½ at 79; Postal Telegraph 5s, up 3¼ at 39¾; Texas Corp. 5s, up 1 1-8 at 104. American & Foreign Power 5s, up 2 3-8 at 74 7-8, and Richfield Oil 6s, up ½ at 47.

Foreign bonds were generally lifeless. Higher prices were paid for Australian 5s and Uruguay 6s. Poland 6s and Denmark 4½s lost a trifle. Italians were mostly unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Jan. 16—Late rallies of wheat prices today, establishing moderate net gains, resulted more from paucity of speculative offerings than from any aggressive demand.

There was some mill buying of wheat futures, and the point received emphasis thta flour demand might unexpectedly revive, as stocks are low. Most of the time, however, the wheat market backed and filled within narrow limits in a desultory trade slightly below $1.00 a bushel for May.

Wheat closed firm at around the day's top, May $1.00¼ to $1.00 3-8, corn unchanged to 1-8 up, May 60, oats also unchanged to 1-8 higher, and provisions unchanged to 27 cents down.

Acting as a drag on wheat values was the fact that flour business remained persistently on a hand-to-mouth basis, and that beneficial snowfalls in Nebraska were reported as well as optimistic estimates of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas crop prospects.

Corn and oats were steadied by unfavorable weather and by indications corn visible stocks were not building up to the extent usual at this period. Shipper demand for corn improved somewhat.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—May 99 5-8 to 99 3-4, 1.00 3-4 to 1.00 7-8; July 88¼ to 88 3-8, 89 1-8 to 89¼; September 87, 87 3-4. Corn—May 60, 60 1-8; July 61¼ bids.

Farmers Given Better Break In '35 Weather

J. B. Kincer, of the department of agriculture weather bureau, says 1935 was wetter and somewhat cooler than 1934. The new year finds more moisture in the soil and more snow on the ground in areas east of the Rocky mountains than did 1935's opening.

Kincer's report adds that 1935 brought more than normal rainfall to most states east of the rocky mountains, but it was below normal in many areas west of the mountains. Far southwest and some central Rocky mountain districts had more rain than usual. From southwestern Kansas and eastern Colorado southward there again was deficient moisture, but it exceeded the 1934 total. Only in the interior of the Pacific northwest was precipitation less in 1935 than in 1934.

December snowfall in 1935 was greater than in 1934, in the east and southeast, but less in the far west. Last year Virginia, Georgia, and the Carolinas had no snow before Christmas, but had heavy covers this year. In the mountainous parts of Colorado, Washington, Oregon, and California there was less snow in December, 1935, than in the previous December.

Although 1935 was cooler than 1934, temperatures averaged above normal, except in a limited area of the northeast and locally in the far northwest.

It is not that we are illiterate, but we simply have not realized the aims of the nation's founders. We ignore the thoughts of great thinkers and make heroes of gangsters and ball players.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING INFORMATION

Errors in advertisements should be reported immediately. The Daily Press will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion.

All ads are restricted to their proper classification and to the regular Daily Press style of type. The publishers reserve the right to edit or reject any classified advertising copy.

Charged ads will be received by telephone and if paid at the Daily Press office within six days from the first day of insertion cash rates will be allowed.

Ads ordered for three or six times and stopped before expiration will be charged for only the number of times the ad appeared and adjustment made at the rate earned.

The Daily Press makes an earnest effort to keep its advertising columns free of deceptive and dishonest announcements. Readers are requested to report unsatisfactory dealings with any advertiser in these columns.

Joe Louis Fights Retzlaff at Chicago Tonight

20,000 CROWD TO SEE BOUT

Detroit Battler Will Go Into Ring Heaviest in His Career

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Chicago, Jan. 16 (AP)—Joe Louis, the Brown Bomber, is ready to set off another blast of dynamite tomorrow night.

Conqueror of all opposition in his amazing drive for the world's championship, Louis will meet Charley Retzlaff, lantern-jawed rancher, with a terrific right hand punch, in a battle scheduled to go fifteen rounds or less at the Chicago Stadium. Indications tonight were that 20,000 spectators would witness the bout, with gate receipts around $100,000.

Louis, with Carnera, Baer, Uzcudun, and Levinsky strewn along his march was a one to ten shot in all discussions, but curiosity existed as to just what the Brown Bomber would do if Farmer Retzlaff drove one of his knockout punches smashing against the Louis chin. Retzlaff, victorious in 55 out of 68 battles by knockouts, promises to fight Louis instead of running away and also promises to hurt him, which no other fighter has been able to do.

Knockout Expected

When Louis shuffles into the ring shortly before 10 p. m. (Central Standard Time) expecting to achieve his 23rd knockout in 27 fights at the expense of Retzlaff, he will be accepting his fourth 15 round bout in his 19 month old professional career. That he never needed anywhere near 15 rounds to dispose of Carnera, Baer, Uzcudun or Levinsky, is a matter of record. In fact, against the four of them Louis used only 15 rounds, six for Carnera, four each for Max and Paulino, and only one for Levinsky.

After ten days of training, Louis has attained the lightning form he has displayed in his major bouts. Jack Blackburn, his trainer, said Louis would weigh 201 or 202 pounds, the highest he has scaled in his sensational career. When he met Uzcudun he weighed 200½ and 199¾ for Baer.

Ring sharps agree that any puncher of Retzlaff's ability is capable of upsetting even the ring's greatest killer—if he throws the punches. Retzlaff says he will throw everything from the start and gamble on the result. If Louis nails him first it will not be because he wasn't trying the big farmer declared. Retzlaff will not be outweighed more than four or five pounds, as he expects to go into the ring at 196.

Louis, who earned $364,000 with his fists last year, may pick up another $40,000 tomorrow night, as he will receive 40 per cent of the gate, radio and moving pictures. Retzlaff will receive 17½ per cent of the gate receipts.

Grade School Cage Schedule Announced

9:00—Specials vs. Invincibles.
10:00—Little Giants vs. Middies.
11:00—Pee Wees vs. South Side Fighters.
1:00—Vikings vs. Redwings.
2:00—Specials vs. Wolverines.
3:00—Giants vs. Aces.
4:00—B's vs. Bears.

Captains are reminded that they must have their teams at the senior high gym, ready to play, at the time their game is scheduled, or forfeit the game.

CHICAGO BEATS RED WINGS, 4-1

Black Hawks Rebound in Slam Bang Fashion at Stadium

Chicago, Jan. 16 (AP)—Chicago's Black Hawks rebounded from a long slump to outrush and outmaneuver the Detroit Red Wings for a 4 to 1 triumph in a slambang National Hockey League match before 9,000 spectators in the Chicago Stadium.

A thorough reorganization of front lines, plus the acquisition of Earl Seibert, big defense man, from the New York Rangers, produced the best offensive demonstratoon the Hawks have shown home fans this season. The Wings, whose manager, Jack Adams, recently charged the Hawks with playing a stalling game, saw his men outhustled throughout the match with the exception of the second period.

Chicago regained third place in the American division from the idle Boston Bruins by a margin of one point by conquering the Wings. Detroit's hold on first place in the section was trimmed to one point over the New York Rangers who defeated Toronto, 1 to 0.

Lineups:

DETROIT	Pos.	CHICAGO
Smith	G	Karakas
Young	LD	Seibert
McDonald	RD	Burke
Barry	C	Ouelette
Aurie	RW	Larochelle
Lewis	LW	Gottselig

Spares: Detroit — Goodfellow, Howe, Sorrell, H. Kilrea, W. Kilrea, Pettinger, Kelly, Bowman.

Officials—Smith and Dinsmore.

Coaches In East See Need For Changes In Grid Scoring Method

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—Detailed proposals for changes in the football rules, including abolishment of the point after touchdown, substitution of a scoring system allowing one point for each first down and an over-time period to break ties, were put forward today on behalf of the Eastern Association of Football Officials.

The suggestions, embracing wide range and the carefully considered views of gridiron arbiters, have been forwarded to Walter R. Okeson of Lehigh, chairman of the national collegiate rules committee, by William R. Crowley of New York, who has served as president of the association for the past three years.

Proposals Listed

Listing a dozen proposals, mainly of a clarifying or technical nature, Crowley also urged the return of the goal posts to the goal line and recommended a system whereby prompt announcements would be made on all rulings.

In advocating a radical change in the scoring system, Crowley wrote Okeson as follows:

"A game of football should never be won or lost by the so-called try for point. Therefore I suggest that the try for point be eliminated. I further suggest the rules committee set up a new method for scoring as follows: Each first down, one point; safety, two points; goal from field, three points; touchdown, six points. Should the game stand a tie at the end of the fourth period, I suggest an additional period of five minutes, with the number of points in that extra period to determine the result of the game."

This is basically similar to ideas long held by Glenn S. (Pop) Warner, famous coach. Although its adoption by the rules committee is considered highly unlikely, Crowley feels the time is ripe for serious consideration of the change.

"I have found no sound objections to putting more premium on first downs," said the veteran official. "The proposed change would make football more of a team game than ever, placing the emphasis on what all 22 players do rather than upon the work of a specialist.

"The touchdown still would be the big thing to shoot for. The change would add, rather than detract interest, from the spectator's viewpoint. There would be less possibility of a tie, within the regulation 60 minutes, and the suggested over-time period surely would settle most, if not all deadlocks that occurred."

Other changes put forward by Crowley include: Bringing the ball in 15 yards from the sidelines after it goes out of bounds instead of 10; eliminating the opportunity for a fair catch of a kicked ball after the ball has been touched by any defensive player; a penalty of five yards for the touching of a kicked ball first by a player on the kicking side; elimination of rue requiring substitutes to report at start of second half.

MICHIGAN QUINT HAS SCRIMMAGE

Poor Markmanship Has Cost Wolves Two Big Ten Games

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 16 (AP)—Michigan's basketball varsity indulged in a mild scrimmage today, the first Coach Franklin C. (Cappy) Cappon has permitted since Purdue's Boilermakers defeated the Wolverines at LaFayette Monday.

The Michigan coach has been giving his team in general and big John Gee, six foot-nine inch center, in particular a rest cure this week in the hope that they would regain the basket-shooting ability which enabled them to roll up seven victories before the start of the Big Ten season.

Michigan made but 14 baskets from the floor in 60 tries during the Purdue game. The record from the free throw stripe wasn't much better, the Wolverines converting only four of ten chances.

Play Maroons Next

Michigan's next foe, Chicago, does not boast a particularly impressive recrod, the Maroons, who come here Saturday, won only one game in the Big Ten last season and wound up in the conference cellar.

But Chicago has Bill Haarlow, individual scoring champion in last year's conference race with 156 points, and Haarlow is finding the hoop with regularity again this season.

Cappon said he would start his regular quintet—the Townsend brothers, Gee, Capt. Chelso Tamagno and George Rudness—providing Gee's layoff from practice strengthens him sufficiently after his recent illness.

He has devised an alternate lineup to permit benching of the towering regulars for as much of the game as possible. With Gee on the bench, John Townsend, who lack's only two inches of the big center's height, will handle the tipoffs, then shift to forward while his brother, Earl, moves to center. Earl Meyers would hold down the remaining forward berth.

Jackson, Jan. 16 (AP)—Clarence Updyke, 56, was decapitated today when he became confused by an approaching automobile and jumped in front of a street car. He was a WPA employe.

Right Down The Alley

NEWBERRY BOWLING

Newberry, Jan. 16.—Roy Young was high man playing for the Newberry Lumber & Chemical team at the first two days of league bowling in the new community recreational program now under way. Young bowled 211 in the first frame and 228 in the third. Dick Chamberlain playing for the Faculty bowled 203 with Ahlman high man for the Jacobson team with a 185.

Faculty	708	848	699
Jacobsons	721	677	688
Newberry L. & C.	823	714	711
Robbins	605	588	611

Lots of interest is being shown in the bowling league. The newly conditioned alleys are fine, new pins being purchased by the members of the competing teams and the alleys are in use nearly every night. After school and on Saturday school students use them and on Thursday evening the ladies do their playing. It is hoped to have a woman's team contest before the season is over, Earl Griffin, supervisor, reports.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

The formation of a city basketball team is now under way in Escanaba and a schedule of games is being drafted which will include some of the country's finest traveling teams. The city team, to be known as the Balckhawks, will include the finest talent the community can provide and all outstanding players who desire to gain a berth on the squad are not only invited, but beseeched, to come out for the practice sessions. Games and practice sessions will be held at the Coliseum and the majority of the home games will be played on Sunday afternoons during the winter months.

Unfortunately, Escanaba has been without a city basketball team for several season so the promoters of the new venture find themselves in the position of starting from scratch. It is believed that the local squad will gradually work into an organization that will be able to compete with the best cage teams of the peninsula. There is considerable talent available but there remains the job of molding this talent into a polished and smooth working quintet. The players are eager and willing to do their part but they can't do that job without the support of the community. A city sports aggregation, such as the city basketball team, is particularly fine advertising for a community. It shows that the community is red blooded, active, and ambitious.

Among the traveling teams which will be brought to Escanaba this season are the Harlem Globe Trotters, that classiest and flashiest of all traveling basketball aggregation, the Green Bay Packers quintet after those stars return from their western football invasion, the House of David, and other teams of national reputation. Games are also contemplated with such popular upper peninsula teams as Niagara, Crystal Falls, Manistique, Newberry, and others of this class. The extent of the schedule, of course, will depend upon what caliber quintet is formed here, how it develops during the season, and upon the support that the team receives from the public.

Charlie Retzlaff will be led to the chopping block tonight to satisfy the public's thirst for more of Joe Louis' sparkling performances. Retzlaff, naturally, isn't worried so much about the licking he'll have to absorb because he'll be paid handsomely for the few brief moments of combat. Charlie knows he can't whip the Brown Bomber if he tries to box with him and go the route, so by his own admission he's going to stake his ent're hopes on landing a haymaker in the first round or two. Like Levinsky, Carnera, Baer, Uzcudun and others who have felt the sting of Louis' crushing smashes, Retzlaff very likely will last just as long as Joe wants to carry his foe along. When Louis suddenly remembers he has a date with the "missus," it's curtains for Retzlaff.

Louis is the lure which has pulled boxing back to the peak in popualrity after an era of fistic doldrums. The powerful negro is compared with Jack Dempsey as a great attraction and he's so all of that. Yet until the general run of heavyweight battlers improves to somewhere nearer the level of the Dusky Dynamiter, the frenzied interest in his matches will never reach the proportions of the Dempsey era of easy coin. Dempsey had opponents like Jess Willard, Tom Gibbons, Georges Carpentier, Luis Angel Firpo and Gene Tunney to help attract the fight faithful. Compare this list with the present run of stumblebums and you find the gap is as wide as the Grand Canyon.

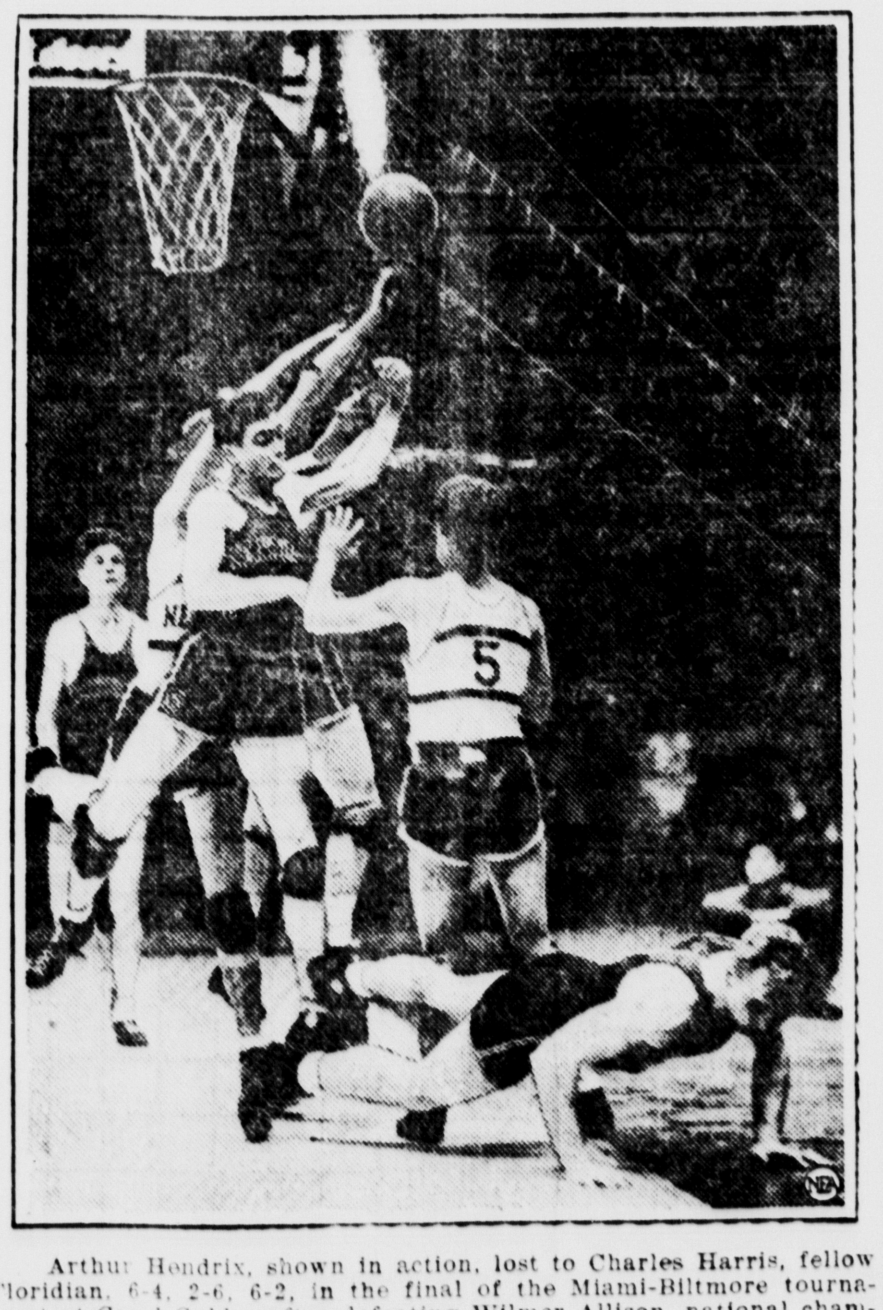
Decrease Reported In Paroles Granted

Lansing, Jan. 14. (AP)—Parole Commissioner Joseph C. Armstrong told Governor Fitzgerald today that the number of paroles issued to prison inmates in 1935 was 15 per cent fewer than in 1934, the last of the state Democratic administration.

The commissioner's report told of 2,430 paroles issued in 1935, compared with 2,835 the previous year. The governor signed seven pardons and 15 commutations in 1935, compared with 32 pardons and 39 commutations of sentence granted by William A. Comstock, his predecessor.

Armstrong said the number of paroles was the lowest since 1927, when the prison population totaled 5,462. There were 7,500 prison inmates January 1, 1935. The report added that 1935 paroles were 27 per cent fewer than in 1933.

Stars Fall Before Him



Arthur Hendrix, shown in action, lost to Charles Harris, fellow Floridian, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2, in the final of the Miami-Biltmore tournament at Coral Gables after defeating Wilmer Allison, national champion, and Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant, No. 3 man in the nation, within two weeks. Hendrix is a 23-year-old resident of Lakeland and a law student at Miami university. The picture shows that all of the stars of tennis and golf do not keep their eyes on the ball.

REPAIR SHOP OPENED

Marquette—Installation of new and modern machinery in the conservation department's recently completed repair shop here takes another worry off the shoulders of upper peninsula officials, L. N. Jones, field administrator for the district, said yesterday. In the future all U. P. equipment will be brought to Marquette when repairs are required instead of being sent to Roscommon in the lower peninsula.

Gilbert Stewart, chief of the experiment station and repair shop at Roscommon, supervised the installation of lathes, grinders, hoists and other equipment during the last week. He pronounced the new shop one of the most completely equipped repair division points in the conservation department's system.

IT COSTS MORE TO PRODUCE BLENDED WHISKEY

WHISKEY PRICES RUBBED HIM THE WRONG WAY

C. L. Vreeland, 5120 Locust Street, Philadelphia, has good news for thrifty folk.

"I think I'm as good a judge of whiskey value as the next man," writes Mr. Vreeland. "And it sure rubbed me the wrong way to pay today's fancy prices for the kind of whiskey I enjoy and like to serve in my home. Yet I'd probably have gone right on doing it if a friend hadn't told me about Old Drum. That sure was a happy day for me. Old Drum showed me that at last I could get old time whiskey at an old time price. Whenever any of my friends complain about whiskey prices, I tell them about Old Drum."

Amazing Whiskey Smells and Tastes Like Whiskies Costing 40% More

Old Drum Winning New Thousands Everywhere on Quality and Value Alone!

Old Drum—the whiskey sensation that is sweeping the country! Voted in nation-wide palate poll to be worth 40% more than it sells for. Bringing a "drinkable" whiskey at a "centsible" price! Winning all America on quality and value alone!

Get acquainted with Old Drum—the low priced whiskey that's distilled from the same top quality grains used for costliest whiskies. Compare it with any "straight" or "blend" in its price class. "You can't beat Old Drum"!

Maryland Distillery's Creed
"It should be the responsibility of every legitimate distiller to produce whiskies so perfect, at a price so low, that the public can have no reason for patronizing illegal distillers who defraud our National, State and Local Governments of their just revenues."

Eskymo Quintet Plays At Menominee Tonight

MAROONS SEEK FIRST VICTORY

McCann's Crew Concedes Nothing; Expects to Avenge Grid Loss

Menominee, Jan. 16.—Menominee high school cagers, beaten in their first three games, may produce the winning combination of speed, accurate shooting and close guarding Friday night at the local gymnasium to make Escanaba their first victim. The Maroons almost turned the trick here last Friday when they outplayed Kingsford for three quarters only to lose in the closing minutes of the game, 20-18.

Second strings of Escanaba and Menominee will play a preliminary game at 7:30 p. m., with the main tilt scheduled for 8:30 p. m. The high school band in full uniform will be on hand to lend color and martial music to the fray. Officials will be Schumacher, of Marinette, and Wrend, of Jordan college, working on the double referee system.

Kornusky Back

Coach McCann's 1935-36 quintet, potentially a powerful team, has developed rapidly after their severe drubbing from Iron River in their opening game, and will concede Escanaba nothing. With Kornusky, forward, back in uniform after an ankle injury received in the Oconto game, the Maroon squad has been materially strengthened.

Menominee's starting lineup is likely to be the same that opened the Kingsford tilt, with Kaminski and Porth at forwards, Delsipee at center, and George Miller and Kellner at guards. Kornusky, Deschaine and Schumacher are probably slated for action at forwards, and Jerry Miller and LaLonde may be called to the guard berths.

The second team lineup of Menominee is also expected to follow that of last week, with Therriault and Carlander or Piper at the forwards, Bergstrom center, and Lappe and Padgett at guards. The seconds trimmed the Kingsford jayvees last week, 19-12, with Piper leading the scoring.

Sets Scoring Pace

Kellner, Maroon guard, is setting the pace for the squad in scoring, but has been sent out of two games on personal fouls. He also leads the squad in personals, with 11 in three games. Porth who failed to get into the Iron River game, is second in scoring with 10 points in the last two tilts.

State Wrestling Team Needs Men In 175 Division

East Lansing, Jan. 15. (AP)—Fendley A. Collins, Michigan State college wrestling coach, said today he will have to draft a lighter man to fill the gap in the 175-pound division of his wrestling team.

Whoever gets the assignment will have to give away ten pounds or more to his opponents, and Collins said he expected this would result in a number of lost matches for his team. He added that State faces a hard schedule with "not a set-up." The season opens January 25 at Ann Arbor with the University of Michigan.

Collins has five letter men about whom to build his team, but two of them face a fight for jobs as regulars. They are Lovell Genson of Muskegon Heights and Frank Teske of Blacksburg, Va., in the 118 and 126 pound divisions. Three other men, Paul Murdock of Waukegan, Ill.; Sam Aldrich of Fairgrove, and Alex Wukman of Bellevue, all look so good Collins is in doubt about which to throw against Michigan. Any of the men could qualify as either a 118 or 126 pounder.

He has to choose between Jay Davenport of Lake City and Robert Mummey of Ludington to fill the 135 pound division, but Perry Conant of Caro, a letter winner last year, seems to have the 145 pound class all to himself. Walter Jacob, the only major letter winner on the team, also seemed certain to win the 155 pound assignment. Joe MacDevitt, of Hartland, a minor letter winner, is back looking for the 165 pound job.

Three inexperienced football men, Walter Luecke, of Dundee, Ill., Nelson Schrader of Northville, and Fred Hunt, of Tuckahoe, N. Y., are candidates in the heavyweight division.

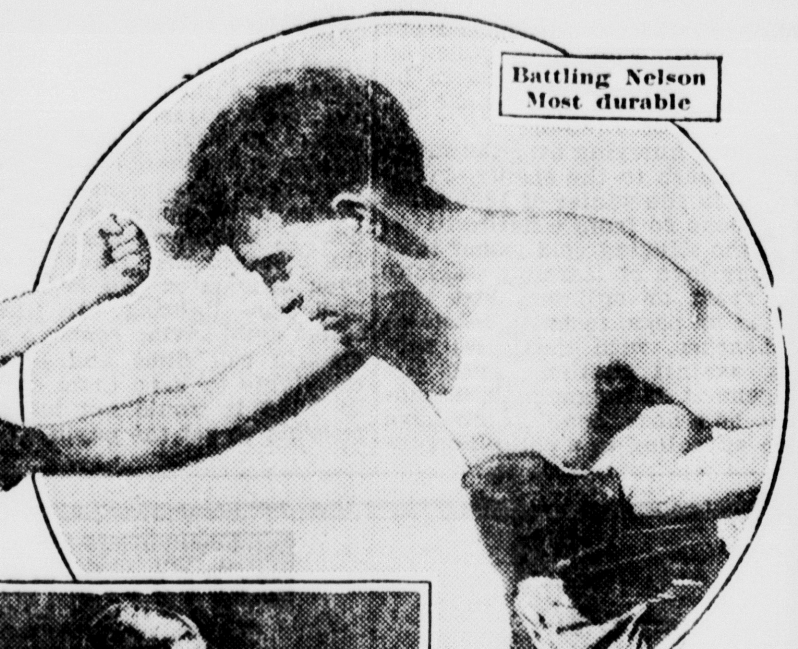
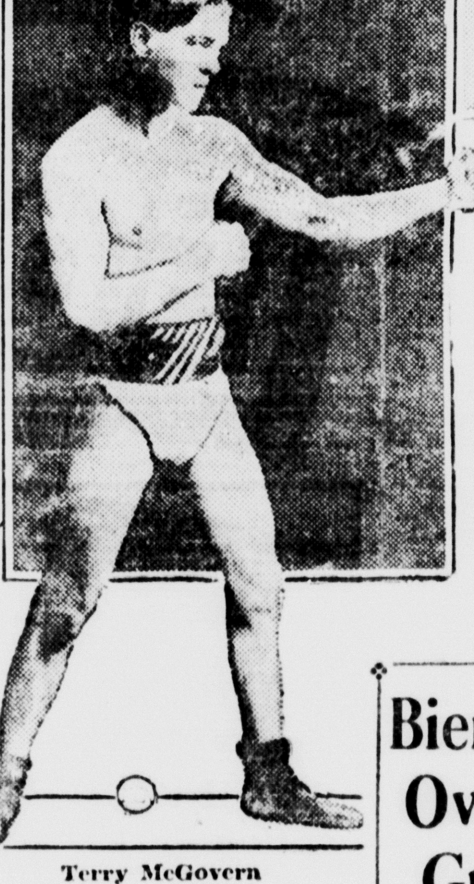
Terry McGovern Is Most Vicious Fighter Humphries Has Ever Seen

Young Griffo Cleverest



Battling Nelson Most durable



Terry McGovern Most vicious

Kid McCoy Trickiest

* * *

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

New York, Jan. 15 — Joseph Edward Humphreys will talk Terry McGovern until your face is as blue as his classic Celtic countenance is purple. The daddy of announcers reveres the memory of the little Mick from the slums of south Brooklyn with whom he rose to international prominence.

"The most vicious fighter that these tired eyes have seen in 50 years, or since I was old enough to remember?" says Joe the Beaut. "That is a very simple question. He also was the best fighter that I ever set my bulbs on. You may have heard of him.

"His name was Joseph Terrence McGovern. He was in full stride when he weighed from 114 to 122 pounds. At his peak, it would have been a shame to match most of the better welters with him. You know that he got it into his head that an old Irish woman put the curse on him just before he was knocked out by Young Corbett. He was scrappin' with his wife, and—"

Humphreys goes along with everybody else whose privilege it was to see Young Griffo in that the Australian was the cleverest boxer of them all. Then the star spieler mentions Jem Driscoll and Abe Attell, also feathers. What? No Joe Gans. Yes, the famous mouthpiece has a high regard for the Old Master.

* * *

Johnson Defense Best; Kid McCoy Trickiest

You get some idea of the real worth of Jack Johnson as an exponent of the so-called manly art when such a competent authority as Humphreys calls the Negro heavy the finest of all defensive boxers, regardless of poundage. Naturally, Battling Nelson takes the cookies for durability, and Kid McCoy for trickiness.

The life stories of several of these immortals are tragic tales—a sad commentary on the cruel beak busting business. McGovern like many other formidable fightmen, wound up in a crazy house. Nelson was declared incompetent. McCoy did time for being implicated in the death of a woman. Johnson was a fugitive for years. Attell was mixed up in the Black Sox scandal. They had to give benefits for Griffo. Gans died of consumption at 36, a victim of torturous weight-making.

Pugilism certainly must have something to survive with all its faults and examples like that. Humphreys, at 63, is as enthusiastic about the dodge as he was during the free-lunch-and-seven-petticoat era.

* * *

Mysterious Billy Always Collected His Money

"And for a real honest-to-goodness knock-'em-down-and-drag-'em-out bloke, I'd take Mysterious Billy Smith any day," beams Humphreys. "Could he fight! Was he tough!

"Smith did 142 pounds ringside for Lavigne in San Francisco and had to ask the Kid's brother to stop it. A month later he beat Billy Stift, a heavy, in Chicago. And he was fresh from a good drunk.

"Mysterious Billy fractured his left arm in licking a tough sailor at the old Polo A. C. Just as the break commenced to knit properly Billy Roche was offered a $2500 purse split 75 and 25, to pit his man against George Green, a remarkable performer, on the Corbett-Fitz, Dal Hawkins-Martin Flaherty program at Carson City.

"Roche turned it down. Smith was furious when he heard about it, insisted that Roche go through, and removed the splints just long enough to scrap Green. The arm broke anew the first time he let his left go, and he was forced to surrender in the 12th round. He fairly murdered Green in 25 heats at the Lenox A. C. a year later.

* * *

Griffo Slipped Spittoons, Too—With Back Turned

"Smith and a young Mahoney were tossed from the ring in Paterson one night. Billy's money was withheld, and when Eddie Harvey told him so at the door, he crashed through it in getting back into the club. Harvey heard a tremendous racket in the office, and Smith came out with the coin.

"On the way back to New York on the train, Smith saw a colored fellow who had swiped a pair of shoes from him seven years before. He whaled the daylights out of the fellow and all hands were pinched at the next station. They had an awful time getting out.

"That stuff about Griffo standing on a handkerchief and defying anybody to hit him in the face is true.

"Griffo and Smith were on the outs for a time. Smith ankled into a saloon one night, and, seeing Griffo at the bar, hurled a spittoon at the Australian. Griffo saw it coming in the looking glass and moved his large head just enough to let it tick his ear. The man was a marvel. He could even slip cuspidors—with his back turned."

Ann Arbor (AP)—Prof. John G. Winter, chairman of the department of latin of the University of Michigan, has been chosen as Henry Russell lecturer for this year, it was announced Thursday. Bierman Looks Over Freshmen Grid Material

Minneapolis, Jan. 16. (AP)—The little things, counted on to produce touchdowns next fall when Minnesota's Golden Gophers bid for further gridiron glory, are in the making.

Certainly there is nothing infinitesimal about the general appearance of the advance field house showing these days, but the coaching staff emphasized that minor subjects were being stressed.

Seven elevens of husky sophomores pranced about the huge indoor practice field yesterday and they yield the spotlight today to seven additional outfits—in all about 160 athletes.

These, said Coach Bernie Bierman, are just the sophomores-to-be, or the 1935 freshman squad. The regulars and reserves of the mighty title-sharing juggernaut of last fall will not swing into action until later.

This collection of new men is the greatest outpouring of fresh pigskin strength ever paraded at the University of Minnesota. And the fans hereabout who have come to make football a matter of frenzied debate around the calendar, confidently anticipate another one of those smashing, slashing teams that have characterized Bernie Bierman's return to his alma mater.

Scare Subsides

The fans have been a bit jittery of late with all of the hubbub about Tulane university trying to rehire Bierman. But the record showing of the 1936 sophs together with the appearance of the full coaching staff back at the old stand, has served somewhat to placate their nerves.

The sports writers are deducing that the promising aggregation of new football material has helped influence Bierman to remain at Minnesota. They also connect the unprecedented galaxy of budding gridiron greats to the success of Bierman as head man of the Golden Gophers since, the experts say, the man power diverted elsewhere during leaner years at Minnesota now is flowing into the home university.

The northmen have been undefeated in 23 straight games in three years and have won 17 consecutive contests.

Henderson Will Be Replaced At Tulsa

Employment of Chet Benefiel, now freshman coach, was announced by the board of trustees which said "Henderson had made a proposal to the university which it did not accept."

Henderson has been a coach 25 years, the last 11 at Tulsa.

OLD RIVALRY IS BEING RENEWED

Rapid River Plays at Rock Tonight in Resumption

Rock, Mich., Jan. 16.—An athletic rivalry of old standing, discontinued about five years ago, will be renewed here tomorrow night when Rapid River high school cagers meet a four-times defeated Little Giant crew on the local court. The feature game, beginning at 8 o'clock, will be preceded by a preliminary between reserve teams of the two schools.

In pre-depression days, the Rock-Rapid River rivalry ranked along with the Gladstone-Escanaba games in the county. In all the years of competition, however, Rapid River's mark amounted to but two victories, both coming on the Rapid River floor in 1928-29. In the same year, the locals also won two games from Rapid, one on the local floor and the other in the regional tourney at Marquette.

Although defeated in all four starts, by Escanaba, Gladstone, Newberry and John D. Pierce of Marquette, the Little Giants hope to make a successful sally tonight against the first small school on their schedule. It is expected that Weingartner will start Sayen and Hakanen at forward, Norden at center, and Brehmer and either Pilon or Waak at guard. Others who may be expected to see service will be Niemi, Maki and Trombly.

The main game will be handled by Lefty Geraldeau, of Gladstone.

RAPID IS READY

Rapid River, Jan. 16. —Although a little bit disappointed by their one point defeat at the hands of Trenary last week, the Rapid River high school cage team has been going through stiff practice sessions in anticipation of the resumption of one of their arch rivals, Rock, on the latter's floor.

Pre-game comparisons have the two teams about even. Rock high school which is experiencing the worst season in the history of its school, has yet to seek a victory. However all their games have been with teams of a higher calibre. The only bit of comparison that can be made is by the Gladstone game, a team which both met and were defeated, earlier in the season.

Rock-Rapid River games have always been hard-fought and very closely contested contests. Keen rivalry is apparent in almost every play until the final whistle has blown.

Rapid River's season thus far has not been any too successful. Coach Peterson has had a group of inexperienced boys to work with. At the beginning of the season he had three lettermen but only one with seasonal experience. The probable Rapid River lineup will be Cavill and Boyer at forwards, Schram at center, with Peterson and Oberg at the guards.

PAUL DEAN TO TURN FARMER

Card Hurler Purchases 80 Acres of Land; "Pa" Runs Place

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 16 (AP)—Paul Dean, silent partner of the St. Louis Cardinals 'pitching firm of Dean and Dean, bought a farm today but he isn't ready to return to overalls—yet.

While his loquacious brother Dizzy, was loudly celebrating his 25th birthday in Bradenton, Fla., with talk of becoming an aviator, Li'l brother quietly announced he had bought himself 80-acres near here.

It was the first hint many of the natives had that Dizzy Dean's No. 1 listener had been winter in Dallas.

"This will be an investment as well as a place to grow some groceries," Paul said. But he moved quickly to shut off another flow of rumors about his retirement from baseball by saying he was ready to depart for spring training with the Cardinals at Bradenton.

"My father will live on the farm and 'tend the place," Paul said.

The younger Dean, expecting a "pretty good season," said he would leave for the Cardinals' spring camp several days in advance of the Feb. 23 opening date.

As usual, he declined to discuss salary, refused to answer questions about his contract except to say it hadn't been received.

At Bradenton Dizzy, celebrated his birthday today by disclosing plans to buy an airplane and go in for aviation, if the Cardinals will let him. He and his wife have about decided to buy a four-passenger cabin plane, they said.

Basketball Gains Fame Despite Difference In Rules Interpretations

BY HARRY GRAYSON

New York, Jan. 16.—Basketball, having grown up in about the same manner as the famous Topsy, has now reached its majority. That is, it has made the big time at Madison Square Garden. It long has been popular in gymnasiums and small halls throughout the land.

By basketball we mean the type played by colleges. Professional basketball has been with us in a pleasant big time form for a long while. But for several reasons the college variety hasn't caught on in the same way.

One reason is that colleges have been too busy publicizing football to care much about any other sport. The second is that there never has been any unison in either playing methods or rules interpretations in the various sections of the country.

Each year the coaches get together and change the rules for the so-called common good. Then they go back to their own sections and interpret them as they see fit.

As an example, take the New York University-Kentucky game. Here were two highly publicized teams, each deserving the acclaim it had been given.

Each was set on proving its superiority over the other. New York University won, but the Kentuckians went home heartsick, believing an interpretation of the rules had beaten them.

* * *

Entire Systems of Play Disrupted

Kentucy builds a defense which uses what might be called an impersonal block. That is, the Wildcats attempt to block without actually coming in contact with the opponent. The rules say this is legal.

But the New Yorkers don't play that sort of game. Eastern umpires will not permit such play.

The result was that Kentucky tried unsuccessfully to change its style, lost two of its best players on fouls, and was hopelessly outplayed.

The defeats of Kentucky and Purdue by N. Y. U. were naturally bitter pills to the midwestern and southern sections of the country, because the middlewest especially has always believed it was responsible for the scientific development of the game.

Midwestern teams have found that while their play is singularly free and open under or near the basket, eastern umpires are willing to overlook quite a bit of contact under the hoop.

Some arrays on the Pacific coast and in the southwest have developed really amazing systems of blocking, the use of decoys, and players capable of handling several opponents at once. These teams find their entire systems disrupted when they play in a different section of the country.

Purdue was cagy enough to take along its own referee. He and the eastern umpire talked matters over before the game and Purdue, although beaten, had no excuses to offer. And by the same token, the game was a more popular one with the crowd.

* * *

Basketball's Great Opportunity

Professional boxing's decline, with its virtual relegation to a rank as a secondary sport, has given basketball a chance to go intersectional in a big way.

But you may be sure that future will not be achieved until a change comes over the umpires.

There should be no complaints like that of Adolph Rupp, who attributes the 41-28 defeat of his Kentucky team by the phenomenal New York University squad to an interpretation found nowhere else in the land.

"The rules say that it is legal to block a player who hasn't possession of the ball, if there's no contact," says Rupp. "But Umpire Jack Murray called a block on just that type of play before the game was a minute old. I counted five more later on. He broke my boys' spirit. They had to change their style of play entirely. I'm not blaming Jack personally. He called them as New York officials always call them. But he wasn't going by the book. It was anybody's game up until the last six minutes, but, when you take out Garland Lewis, center, and Warfield Donohue, guard, two of my best men, on fouls, of course we're no good."

The rules committee should do something about this next winter.

Olympic Flame To Be Relayed To Open Games

Berlin (AP)—There will be new faces, new apparatus, new buildings, and new ways of doing things at the 1936 Olympics, but the old will not be forgotten.

A new kind of gas will feed the flame above the stadium during the games, but the source of the fire is older than history—the sun.

At high noon next July 20, a burning glass will catch and concentrate the sun's rays so as to ignite a torch, which will be snatched up by a runner and then carried in relays from the heath near Olympia to Berlin.

There are plans, too, for having these runners carry the victor's olive branch from Olympia, but if these fail, the newest of transport methods, the airplane, will bring the branch here.

Spiridion Louis, who won the marathon in 1896, has been invited to act as the custodian of the olive, in case it is brought by plane.

In any event, the Berlin committee wants Louis to greet the last of the relay runners here, and to be a guest of honor during the activities.

Another honored visitor will be Paavo Nurmi, the flying Finn, who accepted an invitation given him personally by a representative of German committee in Helsingfors.

By and large, however, newness will be a keynote of the games. Timing devices and hurdles, for example, have just been developed for the events. Stadia and buildings to house the athletes are not yet completed.

ITALIAN WILL FIGHT FILIPINO

Locatelli Meets Pacho in Madison Square Gardens Tonight

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—Beaten only twice in this country, Cleto Locatelli, Italy's "heavy" lightweight, will meet Bobby Pacho, Cleveland Filipino, in a ten-round bout in Madison Squar Garden tomorrow night.

Game and durable but boasting no particular punching power, Locatelli ruled a 7 to 5 favorite over Pacho tonight.

Although mentioned most frequently as an outstanding contender for the welterweight championship, Locatelli insists he still can make the lightweight limit and is aiming at another crack at Tony Canzoneri, now king of the 135 pounders.

Canzoneri is the only man who has beaten Locatelli since he came to this country. Tony turned the trick twice, each time by decision after the closest kind of milling.

Pacho, a heavy puncher, earned the bout with Locatelli by trouncing Leonard del Genio, promising New York youngster, here two weeks ago. He has fought five times in the Garden, knocking out Irish Jimmy Brady, beating Joey Costa, Lew Massey, and del Genio, and earning a draw with Frankie Klick.

The supporting card will include two eight-rounders. One will pit Bob Pastor, New York heavyweight, against Steve Dudas of Edgewater, N. J.; the other will send Oscar Rankin, redheaded negro from San Antonio, against Solly Krieger, New York middleweight. Krieger substitutes for Ken Overlin of Norfolk who reported himself ill and unable to go through with the bout today.

Trenary Cagers To Play Baraga Five

Trenary, Jan. 17.—Trenary will play the Baraga Parochials Friday night and hope to extend their winning streak to two games straight, having defeated the strong Rapid River team Friday, Jan. 10, in a close game, 19-20.

The two teams have met once before on the Baraga floor at Graveraet high school in a good game which Baraga won, 13-11.

Coach Collins' starting lineup will be: L. Latvala and Jussila, forwards, Hill, center, and E. Quarfoot and Seppanen, guards; with Vitons, W. Latvala, Captain Trenary, Smith and Donald Quarfoot in reserve. The referee has not been chosen as yet.

There will be a preliminary game at 7 o'clock.

J. C. McGonagle, Delta hotel, is a medical patient.

Conservation Dep't Make U. P. Shifts

Changes in the state conservation department's field administrative setup in the upper peninsula, announced here yesterday at the U. P. office of the department, were made necessary by the recent decision of department executives in Lansing to consolidate the two upper peninsula regions into one.

L. N. Jones, chief field administrative officer for the upper peninsula, will remain in general charge of the U. P. region with headquarters in Marquette.

Ernest W. Libby, who has been supervisor of Region No. 2, has been appointed supervisor of District No. 3, with headquarters in Marquette.

C. E. St. Germain, who has been district supervisor at Baraga, has been named assistant district supervisor there. Claude Smith, who has been assistant district supervisor at Baraga, becomes clerk at the Baraga headquarters. Swanee Godell, clerk at the Baraga headquarters, has been retired to the inactive list.

AT THE COLISEUM

NATION AGAINST NEW DEAL, 3-2

Final Poll of Digest Has Opposition Vote of Over 62 Percent

More than three of every five voters are opposed to the New Deal according to the final report of The Literary Digest's nationwide poll, which is tabulated in the current issue of the magazine.

A grand total of 1,907,681 ballots are reported received of which 37.34 per cent voted "yes" and 62.66 per cent voted "no" in answer to the question: "Do you now approve the acts and policies of the Roosevelt 'New Deal' to date?"

The tally shows a complete count of 1,195,313 voters opposed to the New Deal while 712,368 cast affirmative votes, making a majority of 482,945 against the Administration's acts and policies.

Utah and eleven southern and border States give a final verdict in favor of the New Deal, while the other thirty-six States register majorities against it.

A possibly close vote is indicated in only five States and all others give over a 55 per cent majority for or against the New Deal.

Twenty-two States representing more than half the population of the United States and casting 280 of the 351 electoral votes give a final majority of more than 60 per cent against the New Deal in the poll. Eight States, all in the south and representing 96 electoral votes, cast approximately the same ratio in support of the Administration's policies.

The heaviest negative vote of the country as a section is registered by New England where the anti-New Deal vote is 77.98 per cent of the total.

The Rocky Mountain States show a final vote also of 3 to 2 opposed and the three States on the Pacific Coast total 58.04 per cent against the New Deal.

Detroit (AP)—Fred Chapman, 26, Joseph R. Fuzy, 23, of Detroit and Donald F. Bice, 20, of Grand Ledge, members of a CCC camp at Camp Custer, near Battle Creek were held by a U. S. commissioner here Thursday under $500 bond on charges of stealing government property. They are accused of taking a quantity of clothing.

Short History of Michigan

Educational leaders have pointed out that learning comes only by hard work and the denial of pleasure. If the ascetic is its most important attribute, pioneer children must have been highly educated for the comforts of school were at a minimum 100 years ago. Michigan's school system had not been born. The much ridiculed little red schoolhouse was to be a great improvement over the old log school of 1835-36.

A child hurrying over the snow-crusted path to the shanty, called school, in the winter of 1836 must have done so from a desire to escape the stinging cold rather than for any love of learning. A long day spent on splintery logs supported by pegs, technically known as benches, with the knees rubbing against another such arrangement on longer pegs, intended to be a desk, could hardly have been appealing to a child. Fortunately, books were scarce for the milky light that filtered through the translucent oiled-skin windows would have destroyed many keen eyes. Heating was the most complex of the school problems: children near the fireplace, or sheet iron stove, roasted and dozed in the intense warmth, while those in distant corners were chilled and became uncomfortable as the fire waved a cheery greeting with mocking, flaming, red streamers—as warming at a distance as an Arctic display of aurora borealis.

Contrast that primitive scene with the possibilities a hundred years has brought. It is now possible for children to have individual seats adjustable to their variations in size. Well placed and lighted blackboards have replaced the box of moist sand of 1836. A thermostatic control regulates the heat in a uniform manner. Modern research and invention has even eliminated the last of the problems—lighting. In what are called sight-saving rooms a photo-electric cell dims and brightens the lights to keep them constant. In 1836 it would not have been possible to get the pupils and sufficient candles in a room to give the same amount of light. Year by year the primitive distractions of education have grown less.

MANY DESIRE TRIP TO ISLE

Hundreds of Pupils Are Entering Slogan Contest

In the hope of being one of four winners who will receive a free trip to Isle Royale this summer, hundreds of high school pupils in various parts of the state have entered the Conservation law observance poster-slogan contest which opens today.

The contest is being conducted by the Federated Garden clubs of Michigan in co-operation with the Department of Conservation. The best slogans will be considered by the Department for use as highway signs calling attention to the need for better Conservation law observance throughout the state.

All high school pupils of the state are eligible to enter the contest, which closes Feb. 15. It is not necessary for a pupil to hold membership in a Garden club to enter. In localities where there is no Garden club, any women's organization may handle the arrangments and provide special local prizes if they desire, sending the winning posters to Lansing to be entered in the state contest. Where no local contest is being held, high school pupils may enter the contest by writing to the Department of Conservation for instructions.

Flint, Jan. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Clarenna Ann Mason, member of a pioneer Flint family and a resident here for 70 years, died Thursday a few hours before the body of her sister, Mrs. Cecelia I. Sheldon Leishman, 74, arrived from New York. Funeral services were held Thursday for Mrs. Leishman. Mrs. Mason's funeral will be Saturday.
